PREFACE

This is one of a series of seven volumes presenting final results of the 1948 Census of Business for Retail, Wholesale, and Service Trades. Statistics for Retail Trade are contained in three volumes—Volume I, General Statistics, Part 1; Volume II, General Statistics, Part 2, and Merchandise Line Sales Statistics; and Volume III, Area Statistics. The Census, which was conducted by personal canvass of business establishments, was taken in accordance with the provisions of the act of June 19, 1948 (62 Stat. 478; 13 U. S. C. 121–123). This act provides for a Census of Business to cover the year 1948 and every fifth year thereafter. Previous business censuses covered the years 1929, 1933, 1935, and 1939.

Important to the conduct of the 1948 Census of Business were the assistance of many private and public organizations in the planning phase of the census and the excellent cooperation of some 3,000,000 business establishments in supplying the information required, as well as the work of the several thousand Census employees who participated in the field enumeration, editing, tabulation, and other census operations.

The advice of trade associations, individual businessmen, research and marketing organizations, and Government agencies was invaluable in determining the feasibility of collecting various types of data and the methods for minimizing the burden of reporting, as well as in determining the types of information which would be of greatest value. Because of budgetary and other limitations, it was not possible to collect all of the data recommended by these groups. Timely publicity given to the Business Census by business organizations, trade papers, local newspapers, and radio stations aided greatly in informing businessmen of the nature and objectives of the census and facilitated the collection of census reports.

The primary responsibility for the 1948 Census of Business was centered in the Business Division of the Census Bureau. Other divisions of the Bureau, particularly the Field Division and the Machine Tabulation Division, also had important functions in the census.

The Business Census was taken under the supervision of William C. Truppner, Chief of the Business Division. Harvey Kailin, Assistant Division Chief, Program Branch, was appointed Acting Chief, January 2, 1951, to succeed Mr. Truppner who was detailed to the National Production Authority. Major contributions to the planning of the 1948 Census of Business were made by William A. Ruff, Assistant Chief, who retired January 1, 1948, and Earl D. Krickbaum, Chief of the Procedures and Processing Section until November 1, 1948.

The following personnel in the Business Division had important responsibilities in the census:

Max A. Bershad was Chief of the Statistical Methods Section. Henry Wulff, in charge of Quality Control, worked on field enumerating techniques and office editing and tabulating procedures. Aaron Sabghir, in charge of Sampling Techniques, worked on the post enumeration survey and measures of census coverage and accuracy.

Ernest J. Engquist, Jr., was Chief of the Retail Trade Section and James O. Reid was Assistant Chief. Maurice Haven, James W. Turbitt, John W. Field, Victor O. McNabb, and Jane E. McCullough, participated in the planning and developing of report forms, publication plans, and manuals; the writing of texts; and the handling of technical problems arising during the processing of reports and tabulations.

Louis Greenberg was responsible for review of all text material and table forms, and assisted on publication problems.

M. D. Bingham, Chief of the Procedures and Processing Section, was subsequently appointed Assistant Division Chief, Processing and Management Branch. L. Parker Temple was Assistant Chief of the Procedures and Processing Section; Richard S. McCurdy, succeeded by R. M. Micoly in July 1949, and assisted by Jervis Braunstein, was in charge of the Directory Subsection, responsible for receiving report forms and the handling of special problems connected with multiunit firms. Percival Ableman, succeeded by R. M. Micoly in March 1950, was Chief of the Retail Trade Processing Subsection and was in charge of editing, coding, and tabulating Retail Trade reports. J. Stanley Werking participated in the design of forms and all problems of printing and preparation of material for publication.

In the Field Division, Jack B. Robertson, assisted by Arthur Cook, directed the field work for the Census of Business. Lancelot W. Armstrong, Machine Tabulation Division, assisted by Martha Ayres, was responsible for machine tabulation techniques and procedures; and Franklin L. Thatcher and Robert H. Brooks, Administrative Services Division, were responsible for the printing and publishing of the Census of Business.

INTRODUCTION

Scope of the census and area covered.—The 1948 Census of Business covers Retail, Wholesale, and Service Trades. Retail and Wholesale Trades in the Business Census correspond with minor exceptions to these trade divisions as described in the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, issued May 1949, under the sponsorship of the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President. For a discussion of the census scope of Service Trade, see Introduction to Volume VI: Service Trade—General Statistics. All previous Business Censuses covered Retail and Wholesale Trades; Service Trades were first enumerated in the 1933 Census.

The 1948 Census of Business includes business establishments located in continental United States and the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii. Data for Puerto Rico, obtained in a Census of Business for 1949, are published separately. The 1939 Business Census covered the same areas as the 1948 Census, and, in addition, Puerto Rico. All earlier Business Censuses were conducted only in continental United States.

Period covered by the census.—The 1948 Census of Business is basically a report of business activity in the calendar year 1948. However, the relatively small proportion of establishments that maintained their records on a fiscal-year basis and were unable to report on a calendar-year basis, were permitted to use a fiscal year ending between September 30, 1948, and March 31, 1949. In a very few cases, reports were accepted for fiscal years not falling within this range. Regardless of the fiscal year used, all establishments were required to report employment and pay roll (except annual pay roll) for the pay periods specified on the report forms.

Method of canvass.—The 1948 Census of Business was conducted primarily by means of field enumeration. For purposes of enumeration, 308 Census field offices were established with responsibility for canvassing the some 37,000 enumeration districts into which the Nation was divided. Full-scale field operations for the 1948 Census of Business were begun near the end of May 1949, shortly following the principal appropriation of funds for the census. The field work was divided into two broad phases, each of which is described below. The listing of business establishments, phase 1, was completed late in September, about four months after starting full-scale operations. The collection of report forms, phase 2, was substantially completed by the end of November 1949.

Enumerators were required to list all recognizable businesses (except medical, dental, and law offices, government offices, and also farms), and in the course of listing, to go into each business establishment to record the name of the business and of the owner, general kind of business conducted, whether the establishment was part of a multiunit organization, whether (if a retail establishment) its 1948 sales volume was $100,000 or more, and other items required for subsequent operations. Each establishment was listed by the enumerator as encountered while systematically canvassing each city block and each road or highway in rural areas in a preassigned pattern. A separate Listing Book (sec. IV of which is reproduced in appendix E) was used for each enumeration district.

During the listing operation, phase 1, appropriate report forms were left with business establishments for subsequent return to Census District Offices by mail. Retail establishments which were parts of multiunit organizations or which had sales in 1948 of $100,000 or more were required to complete the Retail "long form," BC–21, as were one in ten of the single-unit businesses with 1948 sales of less than $100,000. Remaining small retailers were required to complete the "short form," BC–20. In a small proportion of cases (usually small retail or service businesses) the completed Census form was obtained by the enumerator in the course of the listing operation. In the case of business establishments which were units of multiunit organizations no report form was left for completion, unless requested by the establishment. In general, the reports for establishments operated by multiunit organizations were prepared at the central offices of the organizations. The reports so obtained were checked against a card file prepared from enumerator listings, thus insuring completeness of multiunit organization reporting.

A large percentage of the business establishments with which reporting forms were left during the listing operation completed the forms and mailed them to the Census District Office without further contact from the Bureau. Where necessary, reminder letters were mailed to establishments which had not submitted their reports. Those establishments which did not file their report in response to the reminder letters were again visited by an enumerator who was instructed to secure the report.

To insure that the reports received were not only usable but met Census quality requirements, a field office coding and editing operation was conducted. This operation, along with the follow-up activities to obtain reports not promptly submitted, became phase 2 of the field operation. All reports which did not contain required information together with those which did not meet other quality standards were held in the field offices until a further check could be made with respondents and the reports corrected as necessary.

Because the completeness of coverage of the census depended so largely on the quality of the work done by individual enumerators during phase 1 of the enumeration, considerable effort was expended in verifying and correcting this work.

First, the work of each enumerator was checked in the field by a crew leader or supervisor by recanvassing a sample of the work. Wherever the listing was found to be unsatisfactory, the enumerator was given further instructions before being allowed to proceed.

Second, a complete card file of firms reporting to the Social Security Administration's Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance was obtained. These cards were arranged by enumeration districts and within enumeration districts by street and road to facilitate checking the cards to the listing books. The cards were individually checked to the listing books and a record made of whether or not the firm was listed. A check was then made to determine whether firms not listed were still at the location indicated. If found to be at such location, they were added to the listing. Further, if more than a fixed percentage of listings so added were of readily recognizable places of business, the entire district was recanvassed. This latter provision was necessary because the file included only establishments having one or more paid employees while the census included establishments having no employees. By recanvassing completely those districts having a significant number of establishments included in the Bureau of Old Age and Survivors Insurance files missed by the enumerator, it was possible to minimize misses among establishments with no employees.

Third, when the field operations were substantially complete, but prior to closing the field offices, a careful check by counties was made to verify establishment totals which differed significantly from trends in neighboring counties or those with similar economic characteristics. This check did not disclose any systematic faults in the canvass.

One other step taken to insure completeness of coverage is worthy of mention. As indicated above, the census listing operation began in late May 1949, by which time a number of businesses active at the end of 1948 had discontinued operations. Because it was not always feasible to locate the 1948 owners of such businesses or to get a report of their 1948 activities, it was sometimes necessary to estimate their sales volume based on information supplied by the 1949 occupants or other sources. This procedure was used only to account for businesses properly within the scope of the 1948 Census.

The "Post Enumeration Survey" (PES), which was made after the completion of the enumeration, is discussed below. It provides measures of the undercoverage of business in the census which occurred despite the procedures noted above.

Definition of Retail Trade.—Retail Trade, as defined in the 1948 Census of Business, includes establishments primarily engaged in selling merchandise for personal, household, or farm consumption. Other important characteristics of a Retail Trade establishment are: It is a recognizable place of business and is engaged in activities to attract the general public to buy; it buys or receives merchandise as well as sells; it renders services or processes only incidental to selling; it is considered retail by the trade. Not all characteristics need be present and some are modified by trade practice. Excluded from Retail Trade are peddlers and itinerant vendors without an established place of business. Also excluded are places of business operated by institutions and open only to their own members or personnel, such as restaurants and bars operated by country clubs, school cafeterias, cafeterias operated by industrial plants for their employees and establishments operated by agencies of the Federal Government on military posts, at hospitals, etc. State and municipally operated liquor stores are included in the scope of Retail Trade.

Establishment basis of the census.—Census of Business figures represent a summary of reports for individual "establishments" rather than for the combined activities of "companies." A separate report was obtained for each location at which business was conducted, including each location of multiunit organizations. For such organizations a separate report also was obtained for each central warehouse, administrative and district office, and each other location (other than a manufacturing plant) which serviced, or was auxiliary to, establishments of the organization reported to the Business Census. Each report was tabulated in accordance with the physical location of the establishment.

Kind-of-business classification.—In addition to being classified on the basis of location, the report for each retail store was assigned a kind-of-business classification on the basis of the primary activity of the store during the census year. The kind-of-business classification of each warehouse, administrative office, and auxiliary unit is based on the classification of the stores in the parent organization which it services or to which it is an auxiliary. A limited number of changes in definitions for individual kinds of business have been made between 1939 and 1948. These changes are described in the section on kind-of-business classifications shown in appendix B. Appendix C summarizes the comparisons between the 1948 classifications and the corresponding 1939 and 1929 classifications.

Comparison of Census and Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) kind-of-business classification.—The scope of Retail Trade as defined in the Standard Industrial Classification, agrees, in general, with the scope of Retail Trade in the 1948 Census of Business. The three exceptions are in the handling of mail-order houses, bakeries, and antique stores. These cases are as follows:

Although the scope of SIC group 53, "General Merchandise," is identical with the scope of the Census groups, "General Merchandise Group" and "General Stores," the SIC provides for a separate kind-of-business classification "Mail-order houses, general merchandise." In the census these establishments were included in "Department stores" or "Dry goods, general merchandise stores," depending upon the lines of merchandise sold and the size of the establishment.

The Census classification "Bakeries, with baking on the premises," differs from the SIC classification "Retail bakeries-manufacturing" in that the Business Census does not include units of multiunit bakeries which bake on the premises. Such units were included in the 1947 Census of Manufactures.

In SIC, the classification "Antique stores" is included as one of the kinds of business in Major Group 59, "Miscellaneous Retail Stores." For census purposes, this kind of business is included in Major Group 57, "Furniture, Home Furnishings, and Equipment."

Report forms.—Two report forms were used for enumerating retail stores. These were Forms BC–21 (the long form) and BC–20 (the short form). All retail stores were enumerated without regard to kind-of-business classification as members of one of two groups. In general, the first group consisted of those stores which had $100,000 or more as their total sales and receipts in 1948, or were members of a multiunit organization, or contained a leased department. Members of this group were requested to report on Form BC–21 which included inquiries on merchandise inventories, credit, merchandise line sales, trucks, weekly employment and pay roll, and sales for resale, in addition to the basic data reported by all stores such as total sales, annual pay roll, and number of employees.

The second group consisted of all other retail stores, namely, small single-unit stores. A random sample of this group was selected systematically by each field enumerator for the purpose of including 1 in 10 of this group. Those in the sample were required to report on Form BC–21, while the remainder of the group reported basic data only on Form BC–20.

A third form, BC–10, was required for each administrative office, warehouse, and other auxiliary unit of organizations primarily performing functions for the retail stores, within their own organization. Appendix E contains reproductions of the Retail report forms.

Statistics for Retail Trade.—The statistics in the 1948 Census of Business volumes relating to Retail Trade, for the most part, were published separately in a series of Retail Trade Subject Bulletins and Area Bulletins. Exceptions are chapter 8 of volume I and chapter 15 of volume II.

Volume I consists of data compiled from those inquiries which are common to Forms BC–20 and BC–21, and also from Form BC–10. Each of chapters 2 through 7 presents information on a different subject such as sales size, single and multiunits, etc. Chapter 9 presents pertinent subject data for the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii.

In general, each of the chapters in volume II present data compiled from inquiries on Form BC–21 only, such as merchandise inventories, credit, merchandise line sales, etc. Each chapter includes tables for the United States and geographic divisions presenting information, on the particular subject covered by the chapter, as reported by large stores and multiunits, plus similar information for the small stores estimated on the basis of the figures submitted by the sample of one in ten of these stores. In addition, most chapters contain tables for geographic divisions, States, and standard metropolitan areas, in which the figures presented consist of reported data only.

Figures in the United States and geographic division tables which are obtained by adding the large store and multiunit data to the small store estimates generally are not in exact agreement with data based on a complete enumeration. Thus, total sales for a kind of business, as shown in a chapter of volume II, may differ from that shown for the same kind of business in volume I, where this figure is the total reported by each establishment whether or not in the sample. A more complete description of the sample and the methods used for estimating, together with approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the estimates of the various subject data, are presented below in the section "The Use of Sampling in the Enumeration of Retail Stores."

The statistics contained in volume III were published in a series of Retail Trade Area Bulletins consisting of a separate Bulletin for each State and the District of Columbia, combined Retail-Wholesale-Service Bulletins for the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and a United States Summary Bulletin.

Standard metropolitan areas.—In addition to States, counties, and cities, Census of Business statistics are presented for standard metropolitan areas. These are areas which have been defined and established cooperatively by a number of interested Federal agencies under the direction of the Bureau of the Budget for purposes of compilation and presentation of a wide variety of statistical data on a uniform area basis.

The general concept adopted in defining a standard metropolitan area was one of an integrated economic unit with a large volume of daily travel and communication between a central city and the outlying parts of the area. This resulted in an area considerably more restricted, especially for the larger cities, than the "market" or "trading" area. Each area (except in New England) consists of one or more entire counties. In New England, metropolitan areas have been defined on a town rather than on a county basis. A complete statement of the principles adopted as a guide in applying this general concept to the definition of individual areas will be found in a document issued by the Bureau of the Budget, Executive Office of the President, dated July 28, 1950, entitled "Standard Metropolitan Area Definitions."

The 147 standard metropolitan areas for which 1948 Census of Business data are included in the Area Statistics Volumes are those defined by the Bureau of the Budget as of June 5, 1950, on the basis of 1950 population statistics available at that time. Subsequent to the preparation of Census of Business tabulations, the list of metropolitan areas was increased to 168 in continental United States. The list of 147 standard metropolitan areas included in the Census of Business and the description of the territory which they cover will be found on page 37. These areas are also shown on the map on page 38.

THE POST ENUMERATION SURVEY

To permit an appraisal of the accuracy of its published statistics, the Bureau of the Census conducted an intensive investigation, on a sample basis, of the 1948 Census of Business enumeration. This investigation, known as the Post Enumeration Survey (PES), was designed primarily to measure the completeness of coverage of wholesale, retail, and service establishments in the 1948 Census.

Strict precautions were taken to make the PES an independent and objective check of the census enumeration. The location of the sample areas, which the PES was to cover, was not revealed to the Bureau's field organization until after the census enumeration had been certified as completed and records concerning the enumeration returned to Washington.

Census concepts and procedures.—The 1948 Census of Business was defined as a census of "recognizable" establishments which would provide a measure of the volume of sales of such establishments in 1948 and of the number of their employees. "Recognizable" establishments, for census purposes, were defined as all establishments with one or more employees, whether or not "recognizable" as business places, as well as no-employee establishments which, because of appearance, sign or marking, were recognizable to enumerators as business places.

The 1948 Census, by definition, excluded from the count of establishments those which were in business during 1948 but which went out of business before December 31, 1948. The 1948 sales of such establishments, referred to subsequently as "part-year" establishments, also were omitted from the census except in a relatively few cases where a successor establishment included in its Census report its own 1948 sales volume and that of its predecessor, i. e., the "part-year" establishment, and also in those cases where multiunit organizations supplied data on business units which had been discontinued during 1948.

The census enumeration was initiated by a listing operation in which Census enumerators in each of their enumeration districts were required to enter in a Listing Book the name, owner, address, major category of business, etc., for each recognizable place of business. Because of a delay in the appropriation for the census, the full-scale listing operation did not begin until almost June 1949 and was not substantially completed until late September 1949. As will be indicated later, a portion of the census "undercoverage" is attributable to the unavoidable delay in the start of the listing operation.

Analysis of PES data for coverage.—The program of analysis of PES data with respect to coverage has been designed to answer the following questions:

1. What is the extent of census "undercoverage" resulting from the failure of Census enumerators to list business establishments?
2. What is the extent of net census "undercoverage" resulting from the omission of establishments which were in business as of the end of 1948 but went out of business before the enumerator-listing operation was conducted and from the erroneous inclusion in the census of establishments which entered into business in 1949?

A separate PES report, planned for later issuance, will provide additional measures including (1) a measure of the 1948 sales volume not in the census because of the definition excluding "part-year" businesses, (2) a measure of differences in the 1948 sales and employment reported in the census and, subsequently, in the PES, and (3) a measure of differences between the census and PES in establishment classification (that is, whether an establishment was classified as "retail" or as "other than retail").

Design and procedures of the PES.—The PES had the following features which were introduced with the aim of assuring accurate measurement of coverage error:

1. The area sample for the PES consisted of about 2,500 small areas (segments) ranging in size from part of a building and part of a city block to an entire town or village. These segments were located in about 530 counties throughout the United States. This sample, drawn on a probability basis, was designed to include about 1 in 200 of the retail establishments in the United States. Within the sample segments, enumerators were instructed to make a thorough field search for establishments missed in the census. As an aid to this search, special mapping materials, including Sanborn maps which show and describe individual structures, were provided.

2. The reenumeration procedure was entrusted to a relatively small group of highly selected and specially trained interviewers. Prior to the canvass of each segment, the interviewer was provided with the general Census listings for the enumeration district in which the segment was located. He was also provided with Social Security Administration (BOASI) establishment cards for the district. In canvassing the segment the interviewer had to account for all in-segment addresses whether or not they were included on the Census listings or in the BOASI cards. Also, the interviewer had to write, in effect, a business history of the segment for the period January 1, 1948, to the date of his recanvass. He was required to obtain a listing of all the occupants of each business address in the segment for that period. The interviewer was instructed to obtain for each occupant sufficient information on the nature of the business activity to permit a classification into four major types: (i) wholesale, (ii) retail, (iii) service, (iv) other, i. e., not in the scope of the Census of Business. Finally, for each occupant in the first three classes, the interviewer was required to obtain from the best possible respondent information on 1948 sales and employment.

3. The materials obtained during the PES field work were thoroughly reviewed and a careful reexamination made of the Census listings to make sure that every establishment treated as missed in the census or erroneously included properly belonged in these categories.

PES findings on coverage of retail establishments.—The estimated undercoverage in the census enumeration of retail establishments, because of (1) the failure of enumerators to list retail establishments—"enumerator misses" and (2) omission of establishments in business on December 31, 1948, which went out of business in 1949 before the Census listing was begun—"late start of listing," was determined through the PES analysis to be 1.3 percent of the 1948 sales volume and 0.9 percent of the November 15, 1948, employment.

The PES data further indicate that this undercoverage was produced primarily by the failure to canvass or list small establishments. The omitted retail establishments had, on the average, 1.0 paid employees on November 15, 1948, as against 3.9 paid employees for the enumerated retail establishments. Saleswise, the situation is similar. The omitted retail establishments had, on the average, sales of $26,000 in 1948 as against $74,000 for the enumerated retail establishments. In terms of number of retail establishments they represented 3.6 percent of the 1948 Census total.

The following table indicates the undercoverage caused by "enumerator misses" and by "late start of listing," respectively:

Component of undercoverage	Undercoverage of retail establishments (as percent of census total)
	Sales	Employment	Number of establishments
Total	1.3	0.9	3.6
Enumerator misses	0.5	0.2	1.8
Late start of listing	0.8	0.7	1.8

Interpretation and limitations of PES undercoverage findings.—The PES findings are subject to the following limitations:

1. The estimates of undercoverage of the total number of establishments is subject to a sampling error of approximately 0.3 percent; that is, the chances are two out of three that the "percent of Census total" estimate will not differ by more than 0.3 percent, absolutely, from the true value. The sampling errors of the estimates of undercoverage of sales and employment are approximately 0.3 and 0.2 percent, respectively

2. The "undercoverage" measures above refer only to losses occasioned by "enumerator misses" and the "late start of listing." These measures do not account for any differences which a change of census definition might cause (e. g., a change which would include establishments which went out of business in 1948); or for any differences resulting from differences in census and PES scope and kind-of-business classifications; or from differences in the reporting to the census and PES of 1948 sales volume or employment.

Measures of undercoverage of wholesale and service establishments will be found in the PES discussion in volumes IV and VI, respectively, of the 1948 Census.

SUMMARY OF FINDINGS

Summary Statistics

The volume of trade in retail stores, which totaled $48,329,652,000 in 1929, declined nearly 50 percent to about $25 billion in 1933, increased to $32,791,212,000 by 1935, and reached $42,041,790,000 in 1939. By 1948 the volume of trade in retail stores reached $130,520,548,000, more than three times the 1939 volume.

There was a progressive increase in the number of stores during the earlier decade, from 1,476,365 in 1929, to 1,587,718 in 1935 and 1,770,355 in 1939. However, in 1948 the number of stores (1,769,540) was about the same as in 1939.

Making adjustment for the difference in retail prices between 1929 and 1948, the physical volume of goods sold through retail stores in 1939 is found to be only slightly higher than in 1929. However, the physical volume had increased more than 50 percent in 1948 over the 1939 figures. This is illustrated in table A, below.

TABLE A.—RETAIL TRADE: 1929, 1939, AND 1948

Census year	Stores (number)	Sales entire year (thousand dollars)	U. S. Department of Commerce Index (1935–1939=100)	Equivalent sales in terms of 1935–39 prices (billion dollars)
1929	1,476,365	48,329,652	120.9	40
1939	1,770,355	42,041,790	99.0	42
1948	1,769,540	130,520,548	192.7	68

The small increase in the physical volume of retail sales between 1929 and 1939 was less than the growth of the population. (See table B, below.)

TABLE B.—STORES, SALES, AND POPULATION—UNITED STATES: 1929, 1939, AND 1948

Census year	Stores (number)	Sales, entire year (thousand dollars)	Population [1]
1929	1,476,365	48,329,652	122,775,046
1939	1,770,355	42,041,790	131,669,275
1948	1,769,540	130,520,548	150,697,361

[1] Based on nearest Decennial Censuses of Population, 1930, 1940, and 1950, respectively.

During 1948, about $866 was spent in retail stores for each man, woman, and child in the continental United States. This figure is based on the 1948 total retail sales and the 1950 population count. The comparative sums for 1939 and 1929, using the 1940 and 1930 population figures, were $319 and $394, respectively. Because there has been a steady growth in the population from year to year, the actual per capita sales in each of the census years is slightly higher than the figures presented above.

For each dollar spent in retail stores in 1948, approximately 40 cents was spent in the convenience goods stores primarily selling food for off- or on-premise consumption, gasoline, drugs and drug sundries, tobacco products, and newspapers and magazines. This compared with 44 cents spent in such stores in 1939 and only 35 cents in 1929.

CHANGES IN SPECIFIC KINDS OF BUSINESS

The changes in the level of Retail Trade over the last two decades does not reflect the changes which took place in the individual kinds of business over the same period. Some observations on the changing pattern of retail distribution follow.

Grocery stores.—Grocery stores in 1948 accounted for one-fifth of all retail stores and sales, a proportion not significantly different from 1939 and 1929. However, the proportion of grocery stores which sell fresh meat as distinguished from those which do not, has changed considerably since 1929. (See table C, below.)

TABLE C.—GROCERY STORES—UNITED STATES: 1948, 1939, AND 1929

Kind of business	Stores (number)			Sales, entire year (thousand dollars)
	1948	1939	1929	1948	1939	1929
Grocery stores, total	377,939	387,337	307,425	24,770,123	7,721,753	7,352,791
Without fresh meat	154,277	200,303	191,876	4,026,835	2,225,435	3,449,129
Percent of total	41	52	62	16	29	47
With fresh meat	223,662	187,034	115,549	20,743,288	5,496,318	3,903,662
Percent of total	59	48	38	84	71	53

Over the last 20 years the number of grocery stores selling fresh meat has nearly doubled, and in 1948 sales through combination stores accounted for 84 percent of all sales through grocery stores. Even though the total number of grocery stores declined from 1939 to 1948, the number of grocery stores selling fresh meat showed a substantial increase.

The increase in combination grocery stores since 1929 is related to the decline in the number of meat markets or "butcher shops" during the same period. In 1929, meat markets numbered 43,788; by 1939 the number had dropped to 35,630, and in 1948 there were only 24,242 such stores.

Eating and drinking places.—In 1948, nearly $11 billion was spent in eating and drinking places. About one-half of this sum was spent in restaurants and cafeterias which provided full table service, while just over $1 billion was spent at lunch counters and refreshment stands. The remaining $4 billion was spent in drinking places whose primary source of receipts was from the sale of alcoholic beverages, but which nevertheless sold considerable amounts of food for on-premise consumption.

The number of restaurants and cafeterias in 1948 was 131,190, one-third more than the number of such places in 1939 and 1929. The 1948 figure included 998 caterers. These establishments were not identified separately in 1939 or 1929, but were included in "bakery product stores." Drinking places in 1948 numbered 152,433, a sizable increase over the number of such places in 1939. There were no drinking places counted in the 1929 census, since the prohibition amendment was still in effect.

General stores.—The classification "general stores" is rapidly declining in importance as a separate kind of business. In 1948 there were only 21,557 stores classified as "general stores" compared to 39,688 in 1939, and 104,089 in 1929. The 1948 sales volume of $1,159,361,000 was an increase over the $810,342,200 in 1939, but, in terms of physical volume of merchandise sold, was actually a decrease. The 1929 volume was $2.5 billion, more than twice the 1948 figure.

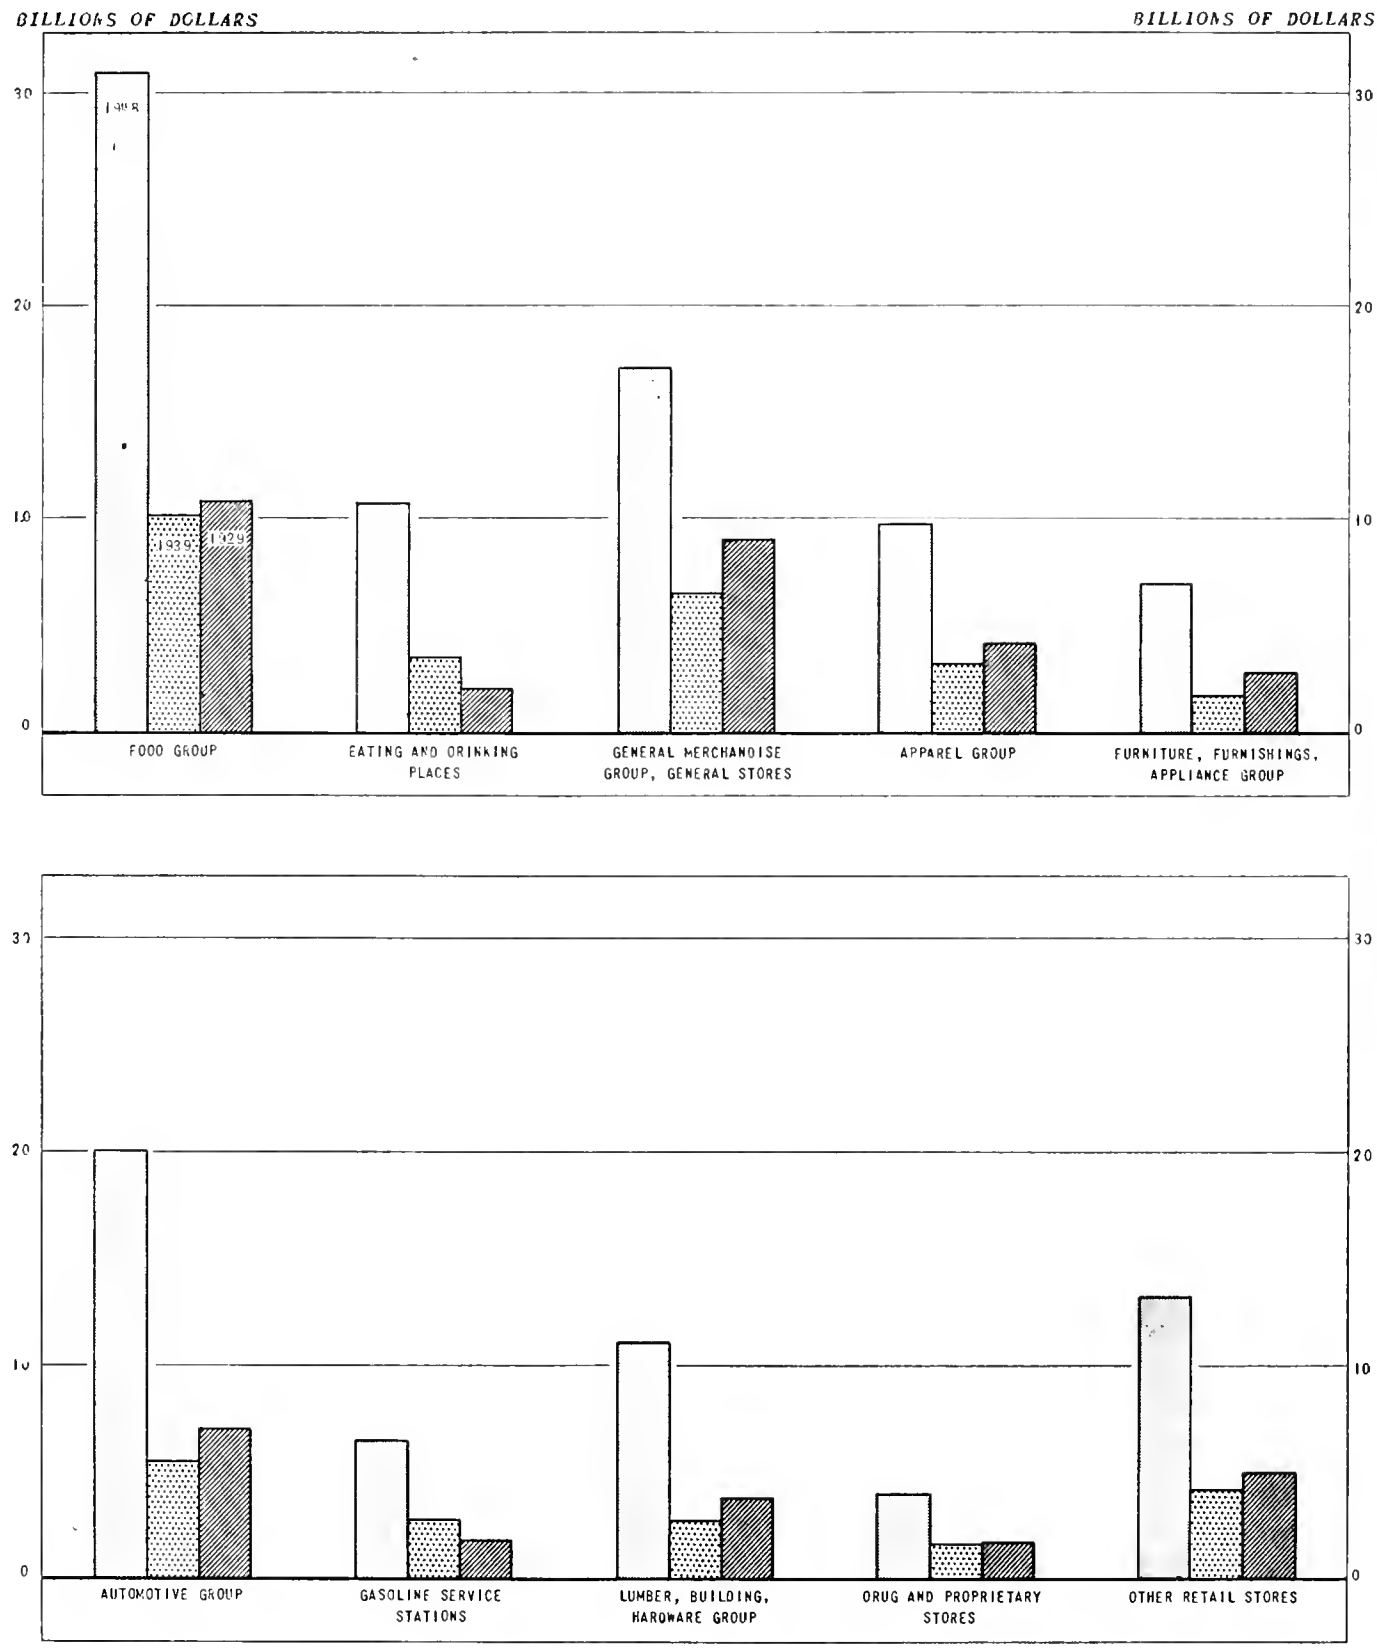
It is probable that some part of this decrease in the classification "general stores" was due to a tendency on the part of these stores to sell larger proportions of groceries, and thus be classified as "grocery stores" rather than "general stores."

Department stores.—Sales of department stores in 1948 totaled $10,644,747,000, an average of more than $4,000,000 for each of the 2,580 stores. These sales were approximately three times greater than the department stores sales in 1939 and more than twice as great as the 1929 total.

The count of department stores in 1948 was considerably less than the count in 1939 and 1929. Some of the changes were due to a change in the definition of what constitutes a department store as described in Appendix B, Kind-of-Business Classifications. However, a considerable portion of the difference was brought about as a result of better reporting for individual stores. In 1939 a few large companies operating a number of stores in this field were unable to report merchandise line sales on an individual store basis, so that all stores of these companies were classified as department stores since that was the pattern for the company as a whole. In 1948, the companies were able to provide merchandise line sales on an individual store basis, so that each store could be classified independently. This resulted in many of these stores being classified in 1948 as other than department stores.

Gasoline service stations.— Retail establishments classified as "gasoline service stations" in 1948 numbered

RETAIL SALES BY KIND OF BUSINESS GROUP: 1948, 1939, AND 1929



188,253, a decrease of 22 percent from the 241,858 such places in 1939, but still considerably higher than the 1929 figure. At the same time the sales volume of gasoline service stations totaled $6,483,301,000, an increase of 130 percent over the 1939 figure.

In 1939 the average size of gasoline service stations, based on the volume of sales, was $11,600. By 1948 the average size had increased to $34,400, indicating that even allowing for price increases over the decade, gasoline service stations in 1948 were considerably larger than in 1939.

Drug and proprietary stores.—For the first time in the Census of Business, separate information was obtained on the activities of proprietary stores (defined as drug stores without prescription departments). In all previous censuses, proprietary stores were not separately identified, but were included in the category "drug stores."

In 1948, out of the 55,796 drug and proprietary stores, 8,841 were classified as proprietary stores. These had sales of $334,768,000, compared to the total sales of $3,678,463,000 for the 46,955 drug stores. This would indicate that in terms of dollar sales, drug stores, on the average, were twice as large as proprietary stores.

All the decrease in the number of drug and proprietary stores from 1939 to 1948 was in stores not operating a fountain. There were 16,072 of these in 1948 compared to the 18,451 in 1939, which itself was a sharp decrease from 23,414 such stores in 1929. Drug and proprietary stores with fountain, on the other hand, increased from 34,844 in 1929 to 39,452 in 1939. In 1948 they increased slightly to 39,724.

Other Changes in the Distribution Pattern

Perhaps the most significant change in the distribution pattern was the great increase in the number of stores selling such specialty goods as furniture, appliances, and automobiles. Between 1929 and 1939 there was a general decline in the number of stores specializing in these lines. During the war and for a period following it, production of many of these lines had been curtailed, or discontinued. When production was again started, many new specialty stores were opened. In 1948 the number of stores primarily selling these lines was greater than the number of similar stores in 1929.

There was a corresponding increase in the volume of sales through these stores. In the "furniture, furnishings, appliance group," sales, since 1939, advanced from $1,733,257,000 to $6,914,179,000, an increase of nearly 300 percent. This was much greater than the increase for total Retail Trade. Similarly, sales of dealers in the automotive group advanced from $5,548,687,000 to $20,104,054,000, an increase of 262 percent.

The number of stores specializing in apparel increased from 106,959 to 115,246 since 1939, and their sales increased from $3,258,772 to $9,803,218. This increase in sales was just a little less than the average increase for all retail stores.

The results of the 1948 census indicate that the total number of retail stores was about the same as in 1939 and in some kinds of business decreased, but that the average size of stores has increased. This was particularly true for stores in the "food group," for "department stores," and for "gasoline service stations."

The Geographic Distribution of Retail Trade

Stores in the East North Central Division accounted for 22 percent of the total volume of Retail Trade in the United States, more than any other geographic division. However, a little less than 20 percent of all retail stores were located in this division. The Middle Atlantic Division accounted for more stores than any other division, 22.3 percent, but they only accounted for 21.6 percent of all sales.

As in the period between 1929 and 1939, retail trade in the southern and western divisions increased more rapidly than trade in the remainder of the country. While for the country as a whole, there was a slight decrease in stores, the South Atlantic, East South Central, West South Central, Mountain, and Pacific Divisions all showed an increased number of stores; while the New England, Middle Atlantic, East North Central, and West North Central Divisions all showed decreases.

For all divisions, there were substantial increases in sales from 1939 to 1948. However, the increases in the southern and western divisions were considerably higher than the national average of 210 percent, ranging from 227 percent for the Mountain Division to 252 percent for the West South Central Division. On the other hand, the increases in the New England and Middle Atlantic Divisions fell far short of the increase for the country as a whole; that for the East North Central Division was approximately the same as for the United States; while the increase for the West North Central Division was a little higher.

The increase in sales of retail stores in the western region is associated with the rise in population in this section of the country. However, in the southern divisions, where the population increase was a little less than the national average, other factors were effective.

Eight States accounted for more than 50 percent of the total sales in retail stores during 1948. These States were, in order of volume of sales, New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, and New Jersey. However, as pointed out above, although all States showed a considerable increase in sales over 1939 the increases in the industrialized northeastern States were well below the national average. The lowest percentage increase, 148, was in Massachusetts; while New York State showed an increase of only 162 percent.

The North Central States, all showed larger percentage increases, with the largest increases being in those States which are predominantly agricultural, such as North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Kansas.

With the exception of Maryland and the District of Columbia, all States in the southern divisions showed larger than average increases. The increase in the District of Columbia was only 176 percent, well below the 210 percent for the country as a whole, while for Maryland it was 209 percent, just about average. Southern States with the largest percentage increases were Florida, 281 percent; Alabama, 276 percent; and Arkansas, 263 percent.

Percentage increases in the Mountain States varied from the low of 171 in Montana to the highest percentage increase of all States, 306 in Arizona; while the increases in the Pacific States were all well above the average for the Nation.

County Distribution

Of the 3,101 counties and independent cities in the United States, only 47 had 5,000 or more retail stores in 1948. On the other hand, 1,379 counties had fewer than 200 stores and 155 had fewer than 50. In terms of dollar sales, 38 percent of all retail trade was concentrated in the 47 top counties, and another 29 percent was accounted for by the next 239 counties, which had 1,000 to 4,999 stores in 1948. The 1,379 counties with fewer than 200 stores accounted for less than 6 percent of the Retail Trade dollar.

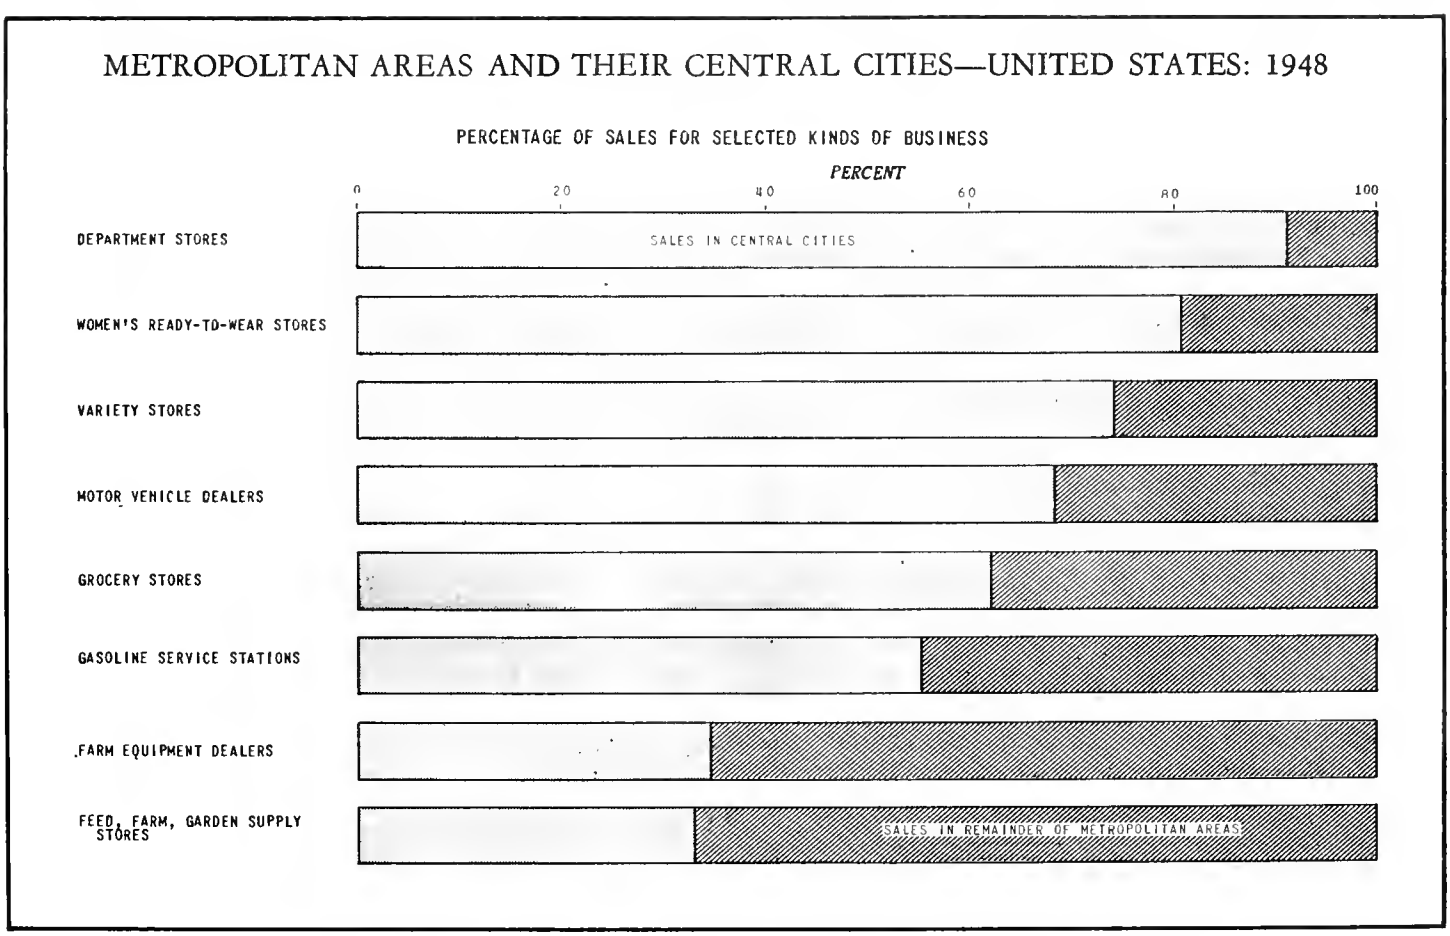
[1] Less than ½ of 1 percent.

Metropolitan Area Concentration

In order to provide another tool for the measurement of trade concentration, considerable attention has been given to standard metropolitan areas in the Census of Business tables.

Data for 147 such areas are presented. These areas accounted for 54 percent of the total population of the United States, 53 percent of all retail stores, and 62 percent of the total sales volume. The average per capita sales for all standard metropolitan areas combined was $987, as compared to the $866 for the United States as a whole.

Approximately 58 percent of the inhabitants of the standard metropolitan areas lived in the central cities.



However, more than 71 percent of the sales in the metropolitan areas were made by stores in the central cities. This gives some indication of the extent to which people living on the fringes of the standard metropolitan areas come to the cities to make their purchases. Further evidence of this is indicated by the higher per capita sales of $1,211 in the central cities compared to the per capita sales of $987 for the areas as a whole.

Table E, below, groups the standard metropolitan areas according to the total population of the areas. There is a very close relationship between the population size and the total sales volume in the areas, with some slight tendency toward a greater concentration of sales in the larger metropolitan areas.

TABLE E.—PERCENTAGE OF STORES, SALES, AND POPULATION IN CENTRAL CITIES, BY METROPOLITAN AREA SIZE GROUPS

Metropolitan area size group	The metropolitan area			Central cities			Percentage in central cities

[1] Based on advance 1950 population estimates.

When the sales of the central cities for these same size groups are examined, it is seen that, whereas in the largest metropolitan areas the central cities, with 62 percent of the population, account for 66 percent of the sales, in the group of smallest metropolitan areas, the central cities account for 82 percent of the sales and have the same proportion of the population as the central cities in the largest metropolitan areas. Thus, consumers in the smaller metropolitan areas are more apt to do their buying in the central cities than are consumers in the larger metropolitan areas.

This does not hold for all types of merchandise. For example, the distribution of sales in food stores and other convenience-goods stores has a close relationship to the population in the central cities and in the fringe areas for all metropolitan areas. It appears to be mainly the specialty goods stores that draw the consumers to the central cities to a much greater extent in the smaller areas than in the larger areas.

CITY-SIZE DISTRIBUTION

It is not possible to present any detailed kind-of-business tabulations for small localities. However, by combining the data for these small localities with the data for localities of similar size, analyses of the distribution pattern for such city-size groups can be made.

Table F, below, compares retail sales volume for eight city-size groups for the two census years, 1948 and 1939. The proportion of Retail Trade accounted for by stores in the large cities (250,000 inhabitants or more) has dropped almost 3 percent during the last decade. The corresponding increase in retail sales is not concentrated in any one city-size group, the largest relative increases being in the 100,000–249,999 group and in the group "less than 2,500."

Analysis by Sales Size (Tables 2A to 2G)

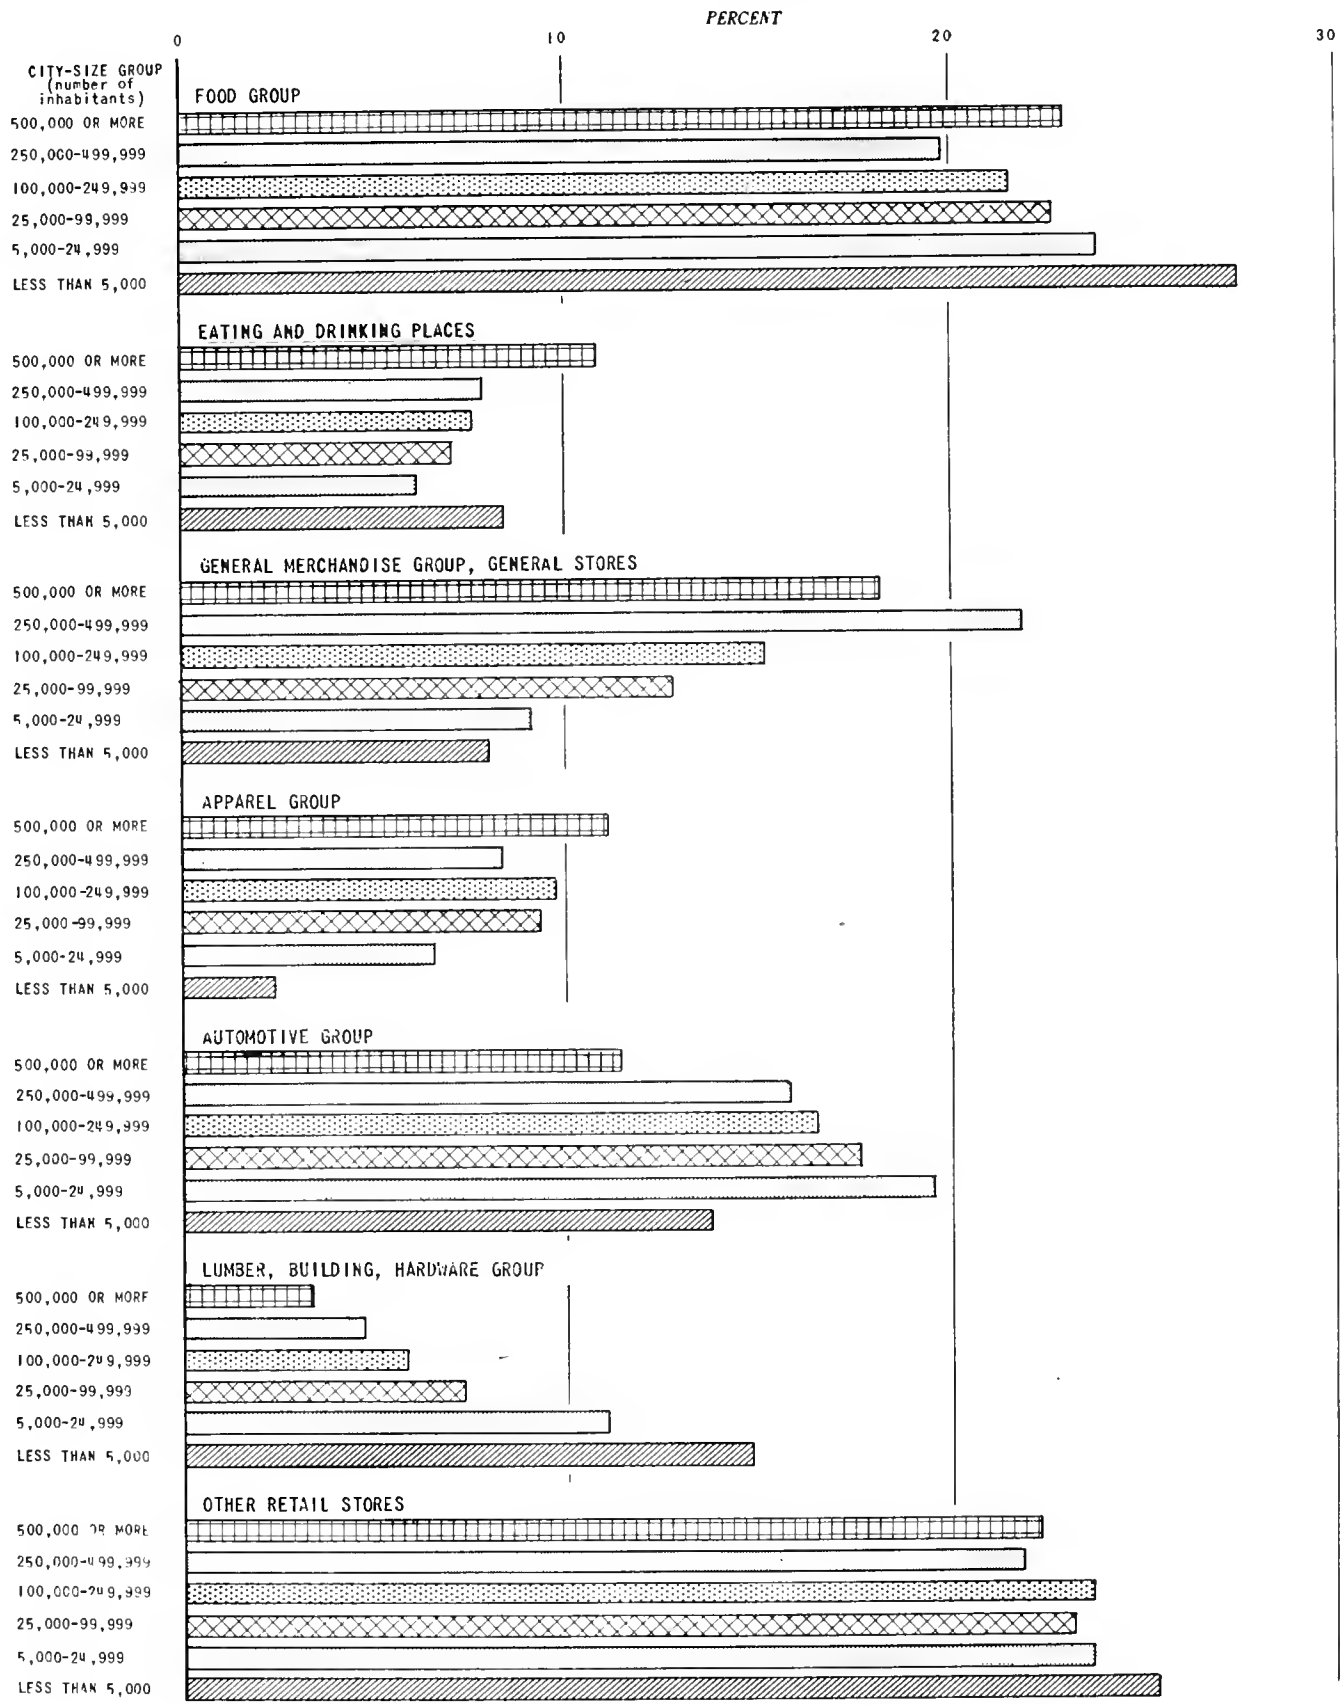
In all sales-size analyses of 1948 Census of Business data based on the complete enumeration of retail stores, stores which were not operated the entire year have been segregated and information on them shown separately. This differs from the practice in 1939 and previous censuses, where the "part-year" stores were not identified separately. The effect of this method of analysis in the earlier censuses was to exaggerate the smaller sales size classes, since most of the part-year stores fell into these smaller classes.

The part-year stores in 1948 numbered 249,111, approximately 14 percent of all retail stores, but they accounted for only 5 percent of the total sales. About one-half of these part-year stores had sales of less than $10,000. To have included them in the regular sales-size analyses would have resulted in a distortion of the sales-size classes below $10,000.

To aid in the comparison of 1948 sales-size data with sales-size data for previous censuses, an analysis of the part-year stores by sales size and kind of business is presented for the United States. For all other areas the part-year stores are not analyzed by sales size.

RETAIL SALES, BY KIND OF BUSINESS, BY CITY-SIZE GROUP: 1948

(TOTAL SALES IN EACH CITY-SIZE GROUP = 100 PERCENT)



Although the total sales volume in retail stores stood at a very high level in 1948, approximately 1,000,000 stores, two-thirds of all the full-year stores had sales of less than $50,000 during the year. These "small" stores accounted for only 16.5 percent of the total sales volume of all full-year stores, and had average yearly sales of slightly less than $21,000.

In contrast, there were only 10,432 retail stores operated the entire year each of which had sales of $1,000,000 or more during the year. In addition there were 236 stores not operated the entire year whose sales in 1948 were in excess of $1,000,000. Despite their small number, less than one percent of all retail stores, these "million dollar" stores accounted for about one-fifth of all retail sales.

Department Stores

Nearly 40 percent of the total sales of stores in the sales-size class of $1,000,000 or more was accounted for by department stores. There were 1,548 department stores in this class, 1,534 of them operated during the entire year, and 14 during only a part of the year. Table G, below, presents department stores by sales-size classes of over $1,000,000. This table includes data for part-year stores, but they are not separately identified.

Table G.—Department Store Sales, by Sales-Size Class: 1948

Sales-size	Stores (number)	Sales, entire year (thousand dollars)
United States, total	2,580	10,644,747
Stores with annual sales of—
$20,000,000 or more	98	4,486,394
$10,000,000–$19,999,999	129	1,723,597
$5,000,000–$9,999,999	212	1,493,805
$2,000,000–$4,999,999	453	1,384,063
$1,000,000–$1,999,999	656	926,833
Less than $1,000,000	1,032	630,055
$500,000–$999,999	679	503,897
$300,000–$499,999	259	103,228
Less than $300,000	94	22,930

There were 98 department stores with sales of $20,000,000 or more in 1948, averaging about $45,000,000 for each store. Another 129 stores had individual sales between 10 and 20 million dollars, and 212 had sales between 5 and 10 million dollars. Sales in each of these 439 stores were much higher than the average sales of $4,000,000 for all department stores.

About 40 percent of all department stores had sales of less than $1,000,000 during 1948 and would be considered small in this field. Nevertheless the average department store in this class had 1948 sales of more than $600,000, a very large store when compared to the average of about $81,000 for all retail stores operated the entire year.

Grocery Stores

The average grocery store without a fresh meat department had sales of close to $30,000 during 1948, whereas the grocery stores which sold fresh meat averaged almost $100,000 during the year. These figures are for stores which were operated the entire year. Groceries newly opened, or which changed ownership during 1948 and for which only part-year reports were available, numbered 51,738 and had average sales of about $13,000 for those without fresh meat, and $40,000 for those with fresh meat.

In the 1939 Census of Business a definite trend toward large "combination" stores (stores carrying grocery and fresh meat lines) was observed. In that year there were 9,193 combination grocery stores with annual sales of $100,000 or more. Although no precise definition of what constituted a "supermarket" was recognized by the trade, combination grocery stores in the sales-size class of $100,000 or more were generally regarded as in the "supermarket" range. By 1948 there were 12,957 combination grocery stores with sales of $300,000 or more, a sales volume level which would place them in the "supermarket" category.

Motor Vehicles (New and Used) Dealers

New car dealers in 1948 who were in business during the entire year had average sales of about $380,000 for the year. The supply of new passenger cars in 1948 was short of the demand and thus the sales volume of many dealers was limited by the number of cars they could obtain from their distributors.

Nearly 3,000 new car dealers, considerably more enterprises than in any other kind of business, had sales of $1,000,000 or more during 1948. These dealers had total sales of $5.4 billion, or an average of about $1,860,000. There were another 5,067 dealers, with a total sales volume of $3.5 billion, whose sales were between $500,000 and $999,999. Only one kind of business, grocery stores with fresh meat, had more stores in this sales-size group.

Eating and Drinking Places

Eating and drinking places, primarily engaged in serving food and drinks for on-premise consumption, had a greater proportion of establishments in the under $50,000 sales-size class than any other important kind-of-business group. More than 85 percent of all eating and drinking places had sales of less than $50,000 in 1948. This group accounted for almost 50 percent of the total sales of such establishments.

There was a greater proportion of small businesses among establishments primarily selling alcoholic beverages for on-premise consumption than among eating places, 88 percent compared to 83 percent respectively. While sales of drinking places that were under $50,000 were two-thirds of the total for all drinking places, the sales of eating places in the same sales-size class represented only 40 percent of the total.

Area Distribution by Sales-Size

In the Pacific States almost 50 percent of total Retail Trade was done through stores whose 1948 sales were $300,000 or more. The national average for trade through this category of retail stores was 43 percent.

The District of Columbia was far in advance of all States in percentage of sales through large stores, almost two-thirds of the District's sales being made in stores with annual sales of $300,000 or more. California was next with 50 percent, while the State with the lowest proportion of such sales was Mississippi with 28.5 percent.

Single Units and Multiunits and Types of Operation (Tables 3A to 3D, 7A to 7D, and 12A to 12M)

During 1948, multiunit organizations accounted for only 9 percent of all retail stores but had about 30 percent of the total retail sales volume. The average size of a multiunit store was about $238,000 compared to the average size of $74,000 for all retail stores. More than 50 percent of the sales of multiunit retail stores was made through grocery stores and through stores in the general merchandise group. Variety stores had the greatest percentage of sales through multiunits, with 86 percent being accounted for; while department stores; dry goods, general merchandise stores; and grocery stores with fresh meat had 64 percent, 48 percent, and 45 percent, respectively. Other kinds of business which had large proportions of their sales through multiunit stores were family clothing stores, shoe stores, and women's ready-to-wear stores.

Major kinds of business in which the contributions made by establishments of multiunit organizations were relatively unimportant were drinking places, eating places, new car dealers, and gasoline service stations. Only 3 percent of the sales of drinking places were made in places belonging to multiunit organizations, while the proportions in the other three trades were 16 percent, 8 percent, and 10 percent, respectively.

In the 1948 Census of Business each retail establishment was separately coded either as a "single unit" store, where the owner operated only one retail store, or as a unit of a multiunit organization, where the owner operated more than one retail store. Each unit of a multiunit organization was given a "number of units" size code depending upon the number of retail stores in the same general kind of business operated by the multiunit organization. For example, if a firm operated 16 retail stores, 11 of which were grocery stores, 4 drug stores, and one packaged liquor store, each grocery store would be in the "11–25 store multiunits" size class, each drug store in the "4 or 5 multiunit" size class, and the liquor store would be placed in the class of "single units operated by multistore firms." For the purpose of analyzing the operations of single and multiunit stores, stores which are "single units operated by multistore firms" and stores which are "single units operated by one-store firms" have been combined into the one group "single units." All other stores are referred to as "multiunits."

In addition to being classified either as a single-unit store or as a multiunit store, each retail establishment was also classified by type of operation, that is whether the store was the standard type of retail store, or whether by method of merchandising, or by unusual type of ownership it was distinguished from the standard type of retail store. Examples of "nonstandard" types of operation which were separately identified in the 1948 Census of Business are cooperatives, mail-order houses, direct selling (house-to-house) organizations, merchandise vending machine operators, and retail leased departments in retail stores.

In the 1939 Census of Business, and in previous censuses, the type-of-operation classification provided the basis for classifying retail stores into three major groupings, namely, "independents" (single-unit stores, and two- and three-store multiunits), "chains" (four or more store multiunits), and "other types" (utility-operated stores, direct selling [house-to-house] organizations, cooperatives, State liquor stores, and commissaries or company stores). Establishments with characteristics which would result in their being classified in the major group, "other types," were always classified in that group even through other characteristics of the establishment might have been the same as either "chains" or "independents." In some of the 1939 "types of operation" tables, data for "independents," "chains," and "other types" are shown separately. In other tables, data for "other types" are combined with those for "independents."

In the 1948 Census of Business, since the type-of-operation classification was independent of the classification for single or multiunit operation, "nonstandard" operating types are included in the single and multiunit tables either as single units or in their proper "number of units" size class, but are not separately identified in these tables. Separate information on these types, however, is presented in chapter 12 of volume II.

In comparing information on "chains" in 1939 with data on "four or more store multiunits" in 1948, allowance must be made for the exclusion from the 1939 data of statistics on nonstandard operating types which had the characteristics of "chains." Table H, below, presents 1948 data on selected nonstandard operating types by single and multiunits.

The proportion of sales through multiunit stores has varied considerably from trade to trade since 1929. For example, in 1929, nearly 46 percent of the total sales of grocery stores without fresh meat was made through "chains" (four or more store multiunits). By 1939 the proportion had dropped to 32 percent, and in 1948 it was only 21 percent. On the other hand, the proportions in grocery stores with fresh meat steadily increased over the two decades, from 32 percent in 1929, to 38 percent in 1939, and 41 percent in 1948.

In 1948, more than 50 percent of the sales of department stores were made through stores of organizations operating four or more units. This compared to the 42 percent in 1939 and the 28 percent in 1929. The 1939 and 1929 proportions have been adjusted to include the sales of mail-order department stores. The department stores ratios have been affected by the improved department store reporting in 1948, and it is probable that under 1948 reporting conditions the 1939 and 1929 percentages would be lower. On the other hand, the proportions of sales through variety stores of firms with four or more stores has steadily decreased from 90 percent in 1929 to 83 percent in 1948.

The sizable decrease in the percentage of sales through multiunit gasoline service stations to 10 percent and 7 percent in 1939 and 1948, respectively, from 34 percent in 1929, occurred because the large gasoline companies had largely discontinued their retail operations. The change in the proportion of sales through multiunit hardware stores, from 3 percent and 4 percent in 1929 and 1939, respectively, to 16 percent in 1948, can be accounted for by a change in classification of a large group of stores which in 1939 were known as hard-goods stores. Data for this group were not presented separately in 1939 but were included under the classification "other retail stores." In 1948, it was determined that these so-called "hard-goods" stores were more nearly like hardware stores, as defined by the Standard Industrial Classification Manual, than any other kind of business, and the classification was made accordingly.

Table I, below, shows the proportions of sales through four or more store multiunits for selected kinds of business for the three census years.

RETAIL MULTIUNIT FIRMS

There were 6,159 firms which operated 4 or more retail stores during 1948. These firms operated 107,409 retail stores with total sales of $30,425,024,000.

The data on number and sales of stores operated by firms having four or more retail stores differ from the data on number and sales of stores in the size class "four or more store multiunits" (table J, below), because in the tabulation by firms, all retail stores operated by the firms are counted, regardless of kind-of-business classification. For example, if a firm operated five retail stores, four of which were classified as grocery stores and one as a variety store, these five stores would be included in the tabulation of firms with four or more stores, but only the four grocery stores would be included in the "four or more store multiunit" size class. The variety store would be classified as a "single unit" store.

TABLE J.—FIRMS WITH 4 OR MORE RETAIL STORES COMPARED WITH 4 OR MORE STORE MULTIUNITS—UNITED STATES: 1948

Item	Stores (number)	Sales, entire year (thousand dollars)
Stores of firms with 4 or more retail stores	107,409	30,425,024
4 or more store multiunits	105,108	29,736,570

The above table indicates that there were 2,301 retail stores with sales of $688,454,000 which were classified in the single and multiunit tabulations either as "single units operated by multistore firms" or as "two or three store multiunits."

Of the 107,409 stores operated by firms with 4 or more retail stores, 25,836 stores, or approximately one-quarter, belonged to 713 firms in the grocery business. The stores of these grocery firms accounted for almost one-third of the total retail sales of firms having 4 or more retail stores. The average number of stores operated by grocery firms with 4 or more stores was 36. However, 23 grocery firms, averaging about 775 stores per firm, accounted for almost 70 percent of the retail stores operated by grocery firms.

There has been a large decrease in the number of stores operated by grocery firms with 4 or more retail stores since 1939. In that year 789 firms operated 40,519 stores. Although there were fewer grocery firms in 1948 than in 1939, the decline in the number of stores was not wholly due to the drop in the number of firms in this field. An examination of the stores and sales data for 84 identical firms as reported in the 1939 and 1948 censuses reveals that these firms have drastically reduced the number of stores operated by them. (See table K below.)

TABLE K.—STORES AND SALES OF IDENTICAL GROCERY FIRMS—UNITED STATES: 1948 AND 1939

Kind of business and number of stores operated in 1948	Firms (number)	Stores (number)		Sales, entire year (thousand dollars)		Percent change 1939–48

Firms with 76 or more stores	23	17,768	28,239	6,460,828	1,978,905	−41	227

This table includes data only for those firms which had 26 or more stores in 1939 and which were still active in 1948. The average number of stores operated by the 23 firms in the category "grocery stores, with fresh meat," was 1,228 in 1939. By 1948, these same 23 firms had reduced the number of stores operated to approximately 730 apiece.

Warehouses, administrative offices, other auxiliary units.—The operators of warehouses belonging to retail multiunit organizations and servicing the stores of the organizations; the central administrative and buying offices of such organizations; and operations such as central garages, laundries, etc., are closely related to retail trade, and statistics on the activities of these units are included with the statistics on retail stores, although separately identified.

In the 1948 Census of Business, 850 firms reported separate information on 1,080 warehouses servicing the retail stores of these firms. These warehouses reported sales and billings of $9,090,871,000 of which $8,945,663,000 were billings to their own stores and $145,208,000 consisted of sales to other companies. In addition, data on 697 administrative offices and other auxiliary units were reported separately by 611 firms. Administrative offices accounted for 606 of these units.

These 1,777 warehouses, administrative offices, and other auxiliary units did not represent all such units servicing stores of retail multiunit organizations. In many cases the warehouse, administrative office, or some other auxiliary activity for a multiunit organization was a part of or close to one of the stores of the organization; and the information was included with the Census of Business report for that particular store. The firms in many cases were unable to provide separate information for the store and for the auxiliary function.

Types of Operation

Cooperatives.—Retail cooperatives had sales of $1,066,841,000 in 1948, an average of $242,000 for each of the 4,398 cooperative stores. Nearly one-half of these stores and almost three-quarters of their total sales were accounted for by "feed, farm, garden supply stores"; that is, they were "farmer" cooperatives formed primarily to provide farmers with the necessities such as feed, seeds, fertilizer, and other supplies used in running their farms.

There were also 122 farm equipment dealers with 1948 sales of $23,376,000 which could also be placed in the category of "farmer" cooperatives, and it is likely that most of the 820 establishments classified as gasoline service stations were engaged in supplying farmers with gasoline and Diesel oil to be used in running their mechanized farm equipment.

For the most part, the remaining retail cooperatives were engaged in selling "consumer goods," primarily food. There were 494 grocery stores with fresh meat, 151 grocery stores, without fresh meat, and 141 "other food stores." These stores had total sales of close to $140 million. In addition, there were 132 general stores, selling considerable food, and 83 eating and drinking places.

The term "farmer" cooperative, as used above, refers to cooperatives primarily owned by farmers. The method of operation of "farmer" and "nonfarmer" cooperatives does not differ basically.

Mail-order houses.—Sales by mail-order houses in 1948 totaled $1,485,352,000. These sales were made by 880 establishments. However, the bulk of the mail-order-house sales were made by 22 establishments. Because of the similarity of their merchandise departments to those of department stores, they were classified as department stores. The total sales of these mail-order department stores amounted to $1,249,351,000, an average of approximately $57 million per store.

Other kinds of business accounting for sizable sales through mail-order houses were dry goods, general merchandise stores with sales of $51 million; women's ready-to-wear stores, $26 million; feed, farm, garden supply stores, $19 million; book, stationery stores, $24 million; and tobacco products stores, $22 million.

Most of the mail-order houses were located in large urban areas. In Census of Business tabulations showing geographic distribution of Retail Trade, they were included in the areas in which they were located. They were not included in the localities from which the mail orders were received.

The statistics on mail-order houses are only for those establishments which were primarily in the mail-order business. There has been a tendency over the last decade for many of the larger stores, particularly in the general merchandise field, to invite mail orders throughout the areas in which their advertising media circulate. Many of these stores also sent out small catalogs, particularly during the holiday seasons. However, the Census Bureau has not attempted to measure the extent of this mail-order business by stores for which mail-order sales did not represent the major source of receipts.

Direct selling organizations.—Direct selling (house-to-house) organizations had sales of $634,763,000 during 1948. Sales offices of these organizations numbered 3,451. The sales of these organizations were concentrated in four merchandise groups, namely, organizations primarily selling home furnishings such as brushes and cooking utensils, with total sales of $162 million; organizations selling appliances such as vacuum cleaners, etc., with sales of $122 million; organizations selling food products, with sales of $113 million; and organizations selling books and magazines by direct solicitation, with sales of $104 million. Milk dealers who made door-to-door deliveries and bakeries which sold house-to-house were, for census purposes, not considered to be direct selling organizations.

Merchandise vending machine operators.—Sales of merchandise vending machine operators, whose primary source of receipts was from the sales of merchandise through coin-operated vending machines which they had placed in other businesses, office buildings, or institutions, amounted to $200 million.

The 1948 Business Census was the first time that the Census Bureau collected information on this type of merchandising. In 1939, although some merchandise was being sold through vending machines, there was comparatively little interest in compiling separate statistics pertaining to its sale. By 1948, the number of machines accessible to the buying public had mushroomed, and some measure of the volume of merchandise sales by this method was deemed necessary. This method of merchandising is still in a period of expansion. The 1948 sales total represents a transitional point in the growth of the industry.

Several of the larger companies in the merchandise vending machine field sell both through vending machines and through concessions located mostly in motion-picture theaters. The Census Bureau obtained separate reports for the vending machine operations of these companies and only these data are included in the $200 million sales figure. The sales of merchandise through concessions owned by these companies is not included in this figure.

The total sales does not include the receipts of vending machines owned and operated by soft drink bottling companies. The plants of these companies were outside the scope of the Census of Business. Neither does the total include receipts of machines individually owned and operated by the establishment in which the machine is located. In cases such as these, the receipts of the machines were included in the total receipts of the establishments owning the machines.

Retail leased departments in retail stores.—In 1948 there were 20,922 retail leased departments located in 13,626 retail stores. These leased departments had total sales of $831,978,000, almost 8 percent of the total sales of the stores in which they were located.

These leased departments were not counted as separate establishments but the data relating to them were included with the reports of the retail stores in which they were operated. While the lessee owns the merchandise in his department, his merchandising policies are integrated with those of the main store. The main store usually provides services such as credit, delivery, heat, power, and protection. Thus, a main store with one or more leased departments was regarded as a single store.

In the 1948 Census, a consolidated report of leased departments and the main store was obtained. The enumerator also obtained a complete listing of each leased department in the main store. This listing of leased departments is the basis of the leased department statistics in these tabulations.

In the 1939 Census of Business the enumeration procedure provided for either a report from the main store consolidating the leased department and the main store, or a separate report from the lessee for the leased department when the main store was unable to supply the information. When a separate report for a leased department was obtained it was counted as a separate establishment. The 1939 data on leased departments include only information for those reported separately.

Legal Form of Organization (Table 6A to 6F)

More than two-thirds (1,231,127) of all retail stores in 1948 were owned by individual proprietors. However, they accounted for only one third ($44,813,592,000) of all sales. The average size of these stores, in terms of 1948 dollar sales, was about $36,000.

Another 322,223 stores, with total sales of $23,422,224,000, were legal partnerships; that is, they each had two or more proprietors. These stores, on the whole, were twice as large as the stores with only one proprietor, their average sales size being about $73,000.

There were only 210,608 stores which were organized as corporations or were owned by corporations. However, sales of these stores totaled $61,203,213,000, almost 47 percent of all retail sales, or about $291,000 for each store.

[1] Less than 0.5 percent.

The 210,608 stores classified as "Corporations," included most of the 4,398 stores of retail cooperatives. Nearly all the stores in this category were incorporated, most of them under the various State cooperative association laws, but many of them under the regular State corporation laws, particularly in those States which do not have cooperative association laws. The few cooperatives not incorporated under any law were included in the "Other legal forms" group.

"State, county, or municipal stores," numbering 2,528, were all "liquor stores." Although there are a few examples of municipal operation of retail stores in other kinds of business, these stores have been included in the "Other legal forms" category, which also includes other miscellaneous ownership types such as estates, receiverships, etc.

KIND OF BUSINESS

Although most retail stores were either individual proprietorships or partnerships, there were a few kinds of business in which the corporate form of organization predominated. Almost all department stores were operated by corporations; and an unusually high proportion of shoe stores, women's ready-to-wear stores, motor-vehicle dealers, and lumber yards were similarly organized. The kinds of business which had an unusually high proportion of stores belonging to corporations, were, in general, those kinds of business in which the average sales volume was high, or those in which a large proportion of the stores were operated by multiunit organizations.

COMPARISON WITH 1939

The only significant change in the distribution pattern of retail stores by legal form of organization between 1939 and 1948 was in stores operated by individual proprietorships and by two or more partners. Over the decade there has been a decrease in the proportion of stores owned by individual proprietors and a corresponding increase in the proportion of stores operated by partnerships. There were similar changes in the proportion of sales contributed by these stores. The proportion of corporations and their sales remained unchanged.

[1] 3,230 cooperative associations with total sales of $111,723,000, identified as a separate legal form of organization in 1939, have been combined, in this table, with "corporations" although a few of them may be unincorporated cooperative associations.

[2] State liquor stores were not identified as a separate legal form of organization in 1939 but were included with "other legal forms."

[3] Less than 0.5 percent.

The 1948 "Corporation" classification and the published 1939 data for this legal form of organization are not strictly comparable. The 1948 classification included those retail cooperatives which were incorporated under State cooperative association laws, while the few nonincorporated cooperative associations were included with "Other legal forms." In 1939 "cooperative association" was a separately identified legal form of organization, and no attempt was made to distinguish between those which were incorporated and those which were not. However, as nearly all of the 3,230 stores classified as "cooperative associations" in 1939 were incorporated, by combining data for them with those for corporations, the resulting total, shown in table M, above, is closely comparable to the 1948 figures for corporations.

Personnel and Pay Roll in Retail Trade

Nearly 10,000,000 persons were employed full time or part time in retail stores and in warehouses and other auxiliary units of retail multiunit organizations in the United States in November 1948. Of the total, 7,083,315 or 72.6 percent, were paid employees. The remaining 27.4 percent consisted of 1,742,046 active proprietors and 930,546 unpaid family workers. Of the 7 million paid employees, 165,254, or 2.3 percent, were employed in warehouses, administrative offices, and other auxiliary units of retail multiunit organizations.

There has been a substantial increase in the number of persons engaged in Retail Trade since 1929. Table N, below, presents data for the three census years, 1948, 1939, and 1929.

TABLE N.—RETAIL TRADE PERSONNEL: 1948, 1939, AND 1929

[1] Not available.

The increase in paid personnel was consistent throughout the whole United States, even in the New England, Middle Atlantic, East North Central, and West North Central Divisions where the number of retail stores had decreased during the decade. The largest increase occurred in the East North Central Division, from 1,085,879 paid employees in 1939 to 1,549,997 in 1948, despite the decrease in stores from 364,508 to 350,319 over the same period.

With some minor exceptions, all kinds of business shared in the increased employment. The kinds of business which showed a decrease in the number of paid employees were those which appear to be disappearing as a result of the changing pattern of retail distribution. Some examples are "grocery stores, without fresh meat"; "meat markets"; "fruit stores, vegetable markets"; "general stores"; "millinery stores"; and "hosiery stores."

From 1929 to 1939 there was a shift in retail employment from stores specializing in durable goods to the nondurable goods type, such as filling stations and eating and drinking places. However, by 1948, except for eating and drinking places, that trend appeared to have been reversed. Table O, above, presents the percentage of paid employment in retail trade contributed by each kind-of-business group during the three census years, 1948, 1939, and 1929. As in 1939 and 1929, the stores in the general merchandise group employed more persons than any other group. More than 62 percent of the paid employees in the general merchandise group were employed in department stores.

The retailing of food accounts for a very large proportion of retail employment. In both 1948 and 1939, employment in food stores and eating and drinking places together accounted for 34 percent of the total. With the added employees retailing food and drink in general stores, drug stores, variety stores, department stores, and many cigar stores, it is estimated that about 40 percent of the total paid employees in retail trade are engaged in retailing food and drink.

The largest percentage increases in paid employees between 1939 and 1948 were in eating and drinking places and in such durable goods businesses as furniture stores, household appliance stores, radio stores, motor vehicle dealers, hardware stores, and farm equipment dealers. Paid employment in these trades increased 50 percent or more during the decade.

Total and Full-Time Employees

About 81 percent of all paid employees in November 1948 worked a full workweek. This proportion is about the same as in November 1939, but is smaller than the proportion of such employees in 1929, when 87 percent of the total were on a full workweek basis.

Kinds of business in which the proportion of full workweek employees was considerably less than the average for all kinds of business were "grocery stores, with fresh meat," 72 percent; "dry goods, general merchandise stores," 74 percent; and "variety stores," 58 percent.

For census purposes a full workweek employee was one who for a typical pay period was paid for working at least the number of hours typically worked by employees of the working establishment. Thus employees of establishments which were normally open only part of the day, such as candy, nut, confectionery stands in theaters, were considered to be full workweek employees.

Self-Employment

A review of employment in retail trade should take into account data on proprietors and unpaid family workers. In November 1948, more than one-quarter of store personnel consisted of 1,742,046 proprietors, who were active either full- or part-time during the month, and 930,546 members of the families of proprietors who worked in the stores during November but were paid no stipulated wage or salary.

Retail Pay Roll

The annual Retail Trade pay roll in 1948 amounted to more than $14 billion. This included $618,162,000 in warehouses and other auxiliary units of retail multiunit organizations, and $13,567,997,000 in retail stores.

For all Retail Trade, pay roll constituted approximately 10 percent of the sales dollar. However, this ratio varied considerably among kinds of business. In general, in those kinds of business which had comparatively few self-employed persons, such as department stores and lumber yards, pay roll accounted for a larger portion of the sales dollar. Similarly pay roll was comparatively high in kinds of business, such as bakery products stores and eating and drinking places, where processing on the premises and service were important functions. On the other hand, in those kinds of business where the number of self-employed was relatively high, such as grocery stores and gasoline service stations, the proportion of pay roll to sales was much lower than the average for all retail trade.

Employee Size of Retail Stores

More than one-third of all retail stores had no paid employees for the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1948. However, these stores accounted for less than 9 percent of the total sales of all retail stores during the year. The stores with no paid employees were operated by 1,249,038 self-employed persons during November 1948, an average of about 2 such persons per store.

The "employee size" of retail stores was based on the number of paid employees for the workweek ended nearest November 15, 1948. The "no paid employees" size class includes, therefore, some stores operated on a seasonal basis which were not active in November, and also stores which had no paid employees in November 1948, but which might have had some during another part of the year. This accounts for the annual pay roll of $76 million shown for the "no paid employees" size class.

In contrast to the large number of retail stores with no paid employees, there were only 3,674 stores which reported 100 or more paid employees for the November 15 workweek. These stores, representing only 0.2 percent of all retail stores, accounted for nearly 12 percent of the total retail sales, and 18 percent of the annual retail pay roll. The large retail stores are nearly all corporations, so that the number of self-employed personnel is negligible. Department stores accounted for 1,211 of these large stores and variety stores another 516. However, the average department store in this size class employed 634 persons, whereas the average variety store in the class employed only 172 persons.

[1] The number of paid employees presented for each size class in 1939 was the average number of paid employees during the year.

COMPARISON WITH PREVIOUS CENSUS

Since 1939 there appears to have been some tendency toward a greater number of stores in the largest employee-size classes and a correspondingly smaller number in the smallest size classes. Some of this apparent trend is probably a result of the different methods of defining employee-size class in the two censuses. In 1939 the employee-size class was based on the average number of paid employees during the year. November employment is usually higher than the yearly average because of high seasonal employment in the last quarter; so that there would have been some shifting toward the higher employee-size classes in 1939 if the November figure had been used as it was in 1948.

PAY ROLL AND EMPLOYMENT FOR SELECTED WORKWEEKS

All stores were requested to report employment and pay-roll data for November 15. However, in order to obtain some measure of seasonal variations in employment in Retail Trade, information on March 15 and July 15 paid employment and weekly pay roll was also obtained from all "large stores and multiunits" and from one in ten of the "small single-unit stores." The sample of retail stores selected to supply this information was the same as that used to obtain other information, such as merchandise line sales, merchandise inventories, and credit. Tables presenting measures of sampling variability of the estimated totals are presented below in "Sampling Reliability of the Estimates." Figures on stores, sales, pay roll, and November 15 employment as presented in the tables on weekly pay roll and employment for selected workweeks are also estimates based on the sample, and differ from figures for November 15 presented elsewhere which are based on a complete count.

With few exceptions, paid employment in November was higher than during the other two periods examined. Many stores at that time were preparing for the holiday season and had already hired the extra personnel to take care of the heavy selling during that season. An important exception to this trend was in eating and drinking places. In these establishments, peak employment was reached during the summer. During that period a large number of seasonal businesses are operated at shore and mountain resorts. Peak employment for fuel, fuel oil dealers, occurred in March rather than November.

In general, summer employment in Retail Trade was higher than in March. However, this did not hold for stores in the general merchandise group and the apparel group. Selling in these kinds of businesses usually drops off during the summer months, and it has become a practice for many stores to close on Saturday during July and August.

Merchandise Inventories (Tables 10A to 10F)

Retail stores reported that the cost of merchandise inventories in the stores at the end of 1948 amounted to nearly $15 billion. In addition, warehouses of retail multiunit organizations, primarily servicing their own retail stores, had almost $600 million worth of merchandise on hand at the same time.

Stores	1,770,000	132,219,592	14,777,031

[1] Sales of warehouses of multiunit organizations to other companies. Billings to stores of own company have been omitted.

As used in the Census of Business, the term "inventories" means stocks of goods held for sale in the store, valued at cost. It does not include the value of fixtures or furnishings. In reporting the value of merchandise inventories, dealers were advised that reports based on cost equivalent such as "lower of cost or market" or "last-in first-out (LIFO)" were acceptable. However, reports based on selling prices were not acceptable and had to be adjusted.

Inventories were reported for the beginning and close of the calendar year 1948, except for some businesses which used a fiscal year other than the calendar year for accounting purposes. Data so reported were accepted and included without adjustment. In using the census tables it should be observed that for stores which went into business during 1948, there was a year-end inventory figure included but no beginning-of-year figure. As, by definition, stores which went out of business in 1948 are not covered in this census, the beginning-of-year inventories represent some understatement of total inventories and to that extent are not comparable with end-of-year inventories.

The sample.—"Merchandise inventories" was one of the inquiries in the 1948 Census which was requested from all "large stores and multiunits" and from one in ten of the "small single-unit stores." Estimates for the United States and geographic divisions, based on this sample, are included in the tabulations. Measures of variability due to sampling, between these estimates and figures that could be expected from a complete enumeration, are presented below in the chapter on "Sampling Reliability of the Estimates."

MERCHANDISE INVENTORIES IN SELECTED KINDS OF BUSINESS

Motor vehicle (new and used) dealers.—Despite the heavy demand for new cars during 1948, new car dealers stated that the cost of merchandise inventories on hand at the end of the year amounted to about one and one-half billion dollars. It is not possible to say how much of this represented new cars, and how much represented used cars taken in trade and automotive parts and accessories.

There appeared to be some tendency for the smaller dealers to carry larger inventories in proportion to their sales than the larger dealers. This is illustrated in table S, below.

TABLE S.—MOTOR VEHICLE (NEW AND USED) DEALERS—PROPORTION OF SALES AND MERCHANDISE INVENTORIES, BY SALES SIZE: 1948

Sales size	Percentage of sales, entire year	Percentage of merchandise inventories, end of year
Motor vehicle (new and used) dealers, total	100.0	100.0
Less than $100,000	3.9	6.3
$100,000 to $299,999	21.7	26.7
$300,000 to $499,999	16.7	17.8
$500,000 to $999,999	22.9	21.6
$1,000,000 or more	34.8	27.6

Dealers whose sales were less than $100,000 accounted for about 4 percent of the sales of all new car dealers, but held more than 6 percent of the inventories; whereas the dealers who had annual sales of $1,000,000 or more accounted for more than a third of the total sales of their trade, but held only 28 percent of the inventories at the end of the year.

Inventories for motor vehicle dealers (new and used) showed a sizable increase in volume during the year, from $1,134 million at the beginning of the year, to $1,541 million at the end of the year. This increase (36 percent) in part reflected increasing prices.

Department stores.—The cost of merchandise inventories held in department stores at the end of 1948 amounted to $1,318 million, slightly above the $1,302 million held at the beginning of the year. In many cases, department stores hold merchandise in warehouses located away from the store itself. However, for the most part, the inventories in these warehouses have been included in the report for the store itself.

The ratio of sales to inventory in department stores appeared to be directly correlated to the size of the department store—the larger the store, the higher the ratio.

TABLE T.—DEPARTMENT STORES—RATIO OF SALES TO INVENTORY, BY SALES SIZE: 1948

Sales size	Stores (number)	Sales, entire year (thousand dollars)	Merchandise inventories at cost, end of year (thousand dollars)	Ratio of sales to inventory, at cost
Total, all department stores	2,580	10,644,747	1,317,826	8.1
Stores with annual sales less than $500,000	353	126,158	23,122	5.5
Stores with annual sales of $500,000 to $999,999	679	503,897	83,354	6.0
Stores with annual sales of $1,000,000 or more	1,548	10,014,692	1,211,350	8.3

The apparel group.—Apparel stores held fairly high inventories at the end of 1948 in comparison with their total sales during the year. The group as a whole, which had total sales of nearly $10 billion during the year, had stocks on hand at the end of the year which cost nearly $2 billion. This was about 13 percent more than the cost of goods held at the beginning of the year.

Table U, below, presents 1948 sales and end-of-year inventories for kinds of business specializing in the sale of apparel and accessories. It also differentiates between inventories held by single-unit stores and inventories held by stores of multiunit organizations.

Inventories in other kinds of business.—Other kinds of business which held large inventories at the end of 1948 were furniture stores with about $753 million worth of merchandise on hand; lumber yards holding inventories which cost about $831 million; hardware stores with goods on their shelves costing $645 million; dry goods, general merchandise stores with inventories of $536 million; and jewelry stores holding goods which cost approximately $461 million.

Warehouse inventories.—The warehouses for which data are presented in tables 7A to 7D are those belonging to retail multiunit organizations. They had a function analogous to wholesale establishments which service retail stores. Tables 7A to 7D do not include data on warehouses used by stores as supplemental storage space for their merchandise. Data for such storage warehouses were included with the stores for which they provided supplemental storage.

Warehouses of retail multiunit organizations reported that merchandise which cost close to $9 billion was billed to their stores during 1948, and that another $145 million was sold to stores of other companies. At the end of the year these warehouses held merchandise which cost $592,936,000. If the average inventory during 1948 remained approximately at this level, it would indicate a turnover during the year of about 15. However, two-thirds of the sales and billings during the year were made by warehouses belonging to organizations operating food stores. These same warehouses held less than half of the inventories in warehouses at the end of the year. Thus they were an important factor in the high turnover rate in such establishments.

Beginning- and end-of-year inventories.—The cost of inventories held by all retail stores rose from $12.9 billion to $14.8 billion during 1948, an increase of 15 percent. This increase was general for all kinds of retail business, with the automotive group registering the largest percentage increase. This group increased their inventories from $1.6 billion to $2.1, about 31 percent.

The 15-percent increase in the cost of goods held in stock does not necessarily indicate a corresponding increase in the volume of goods held. The wholesale prices of merchandise varied during the year, and, except for food, the general tendency was for the wholesale commodity prices to increase between January 1948 and December 1948. Thus, for kinds of business other than those in the food group, the increase in the physical volume of inventories between the beginning and end of 1948 was probably somewhat less than the increase in the cost of the goods held in stock. The exclusion of beginning-of-year inventories for stores which went out of business before the close of 1948 had a negligible effect on this increase.

Comparisons with previous years.—Table V, below, presents total sales and end-of-year inventories for the three census years 1948, 1939, and 1929. In the comparison of inventories in these years, the data are adjusted for price and cost differences.

Credit Sales and Balances Due (Tables 11A to 11H)

Cash and Credit Sales

Credit was granted by only one-third of all retail stores in 1948. However, those stores accounted for 57 percent of the retail sales volume. Sales for cash in the credit stores amounted to 32 percent of all retail sales, so that cash sales in both credit and cash stores accounted for 75 percent of all the total sales volume. The remaining 25 percent represented credit sales, nearly three-quarters of which were charge or open account sales, and the remainder installment sales. Table W, below, summarizes these data for the United States.

Table W.—Analysis of Cash and Credit Sales—United States: 1948

Credit analysis	Stores		Sales, entire year

Balances Due

Retail stores which reported charge account sales of a little more than $25 billion during 1948 had nearly $4 billion in unpaid balances on their books at the end of 1948. This would indicate that, on the average, purchases made on charge or open accounts were paid for in about 2 months. However, it is possible that this ratio of charge account sales to charge account balances is somewhat distorted by the seasonal character of the December sales. The ratio might differ somewhat if it were taken for a different period.

Retail stores which made sales totaling $7 billion on installment or similar types of plans during 1948 had a total of nearly $2 billion remaining on their books at the end of that year. However, this figure was not the full amount owed at the end of 1948 by purchasers of merchandise on installment plans, since in some transactions, such as motor-vehicle sales, it is customary for the dealer to immediately discount the installment notes.

The Sample

Credit data in the 1948 Census of Business were collected on a sample basis. Estimates, based on the sample, have been compiled at the United States and geographic division levels. Totals for stores and sales based on the sample, differ from figures appearing in other tabulations which are based on reports from all stores enumerated in the census. Measures of variability resulting from sampling are presented below in "Sampling Reliability of the Estimates."

Comparisons With Previous Censuses

Data on cash and credit sales were previously collected in the 1929 and 1939 Business Censuses. However, the basis for selecting respondents differed in those years from the method used in the 1948 census. For 1929 credit data were restricted to cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants and stores having sales of $60,000 or more. Credit information in the 1939 census was requested from all chain stores (stores of firms which had 4 or more retail stores) and all other stores with sales over $20,000.

Table X below, summarizes data on cash and credit sales for the census years 1929, 1939, and 1948. The summary data for 1929 and 1939 are based on the experience of those stores which analyzed their sales, while the 1948 data are based on the estimates computed from the sample.

Credit Data by Kind of Business

Credit practice in Retail Trade varied from one kind of business to another. In some trades it was practically nonexistent, while in others it was a very important feature. The presence of minor amounts of installment sales in many kinds of business, which usually did not sell merchandise on the installment plan, was probably due to the fact that there were many stores throughout the country which sold a heterogeneous group of commodities.

Credit in food stores.—Nearly all sales in food stores involving credit were made on charge accounts. As indicated in table Y, below, 43 percent of the grocery stores with fresh meat, accounting for about one-third of the total sales of such stores, had charge account customers. However, about three-quarters of the sales of these credit stores were cash sales.

Credit in grocery stores was confined almost entirely to single-unit stores. Of all "combination" stores (grocery stores with fresh meat) granting credit, 94 percent were operated by individuals or companies which operated no other grocery stores.

More than one-half of the sales of the stores in the kind-of-business class "dairy products stores, milk dealers" were charge account sales. Most of these sales were made by milk dealers, who collect weekly or monthly from their customers for the products delivered during the previous week or month.

Credit in department stores.—About 40 percent of the sales of department stores were made on credit. Approximately two-thirds of this total were charge account sales and the remainder installment sales. Included as installment sales were sales made under the various types of budget-payment plans which were used in many department stores.

Of the 2,573 department stores which provided credit information, only 430 stated that they did not make sales on credit. These "all cash" stores accounted for 4 percent of the total sales of department stores. Another 318 department stores indicated that although they allowed charge accounts, they did not make any installment sales. These stores had total sales of a little under $500,000,000 of which about one-half were charge account sales.

Another 379 department stores, with total sales of $2,275 million, reported that all their credit sales were installment sales. These stores had average sales of $6,000,000, and their installment sales averaged about 26 percent of the total. Most department stores, 1,446, had both charge account and installment sales. Of the total sales of $7,415 million made by these stores, 53 percent were cash sales, 34 percent were charge account sales, and 13 percent were installment sales.

Credit in apparel stores.—With the exception of "furriers, fur shops" and "family clothing stores" credit in the apparel group of stores was limited almost entirely to customers with charge or open accounts. About 16 percent of the sales of fur shops, where the individual sales are likely to have a high dollar value, and about 10 percent of the sales of family clothing stores were installment sales.

Fur shops, custom tailors, women's ready-to-wear stores, family clothing stores, and men's, boys' clothing and furnishings stores made a sizable portion of their sales to charge account customers. The sales of shoe stores, on the other hand, were nearly all cash sales.

Credit in furniture stores.—Almost two-thirds of the sales of furniture stores were deferred payment sales. Of the total sales of furniture stores in 1948, 34 percent were made for cash, 25 percent were on charge accounts, and 41 percent were installment sales.

Only 8 percent of the sales were made in "all cash" stores. As indicated in table Z, the stores which made no credit sales were in general the smaller stores. About 89 percent of them had 1948 sales of less than $100,000, whereas only 60 percent of the stores granting credit had sales of less than $100,000.

Furniture stores with credit sales were about equally divided among stores where credit sales were all charge account sales, stores where credit sales were all installment sales, and stores which had both charge and installment sales. However, the stores in the first group were, on the whole, considerably smaller than those in the second and third groups.

Of the 5,872 furniture stores which indicated that they made no credit sales, 5,498 were owned by individuals or companies who owned no other furniture stores. Only 374 "cash" furniture stores were owned by organizations operating 2 or more furniture stores. On the other hand, 3,298 furniture stores of multiunit organizations were reported as granting credit. These stores represented 15 percent of all stores in this category.

The credit pattern in kinds of business closely allied to the furniture field, such as "floor covering, drapery stores," and "other home furnishing stores," differed from that in "furniture stores." In "floor covering, drapery stores," although 44 percent of the total sales were made on credit, the bulk of these sales were charge account sales. About one-third of their sales were made in stores which did not make credit sales. However, in "other home furnishing stores," which includes stores selling primarily china, glassware, metalware, housewares, shades, blinds, awnings, etc., approximately 24 percent of the total sales were installment sales, while 17 percent were charge account sales.

Credit in household appliance stores, radio stores.—About one-half of the sales of "household appliance stores," which sell primarily vacuum cleaners, refrigerators, washing machines, etc., were credit sales. These credit sales were about evenly divided between charge account sales and installment sales. Only 14 percent of the sales were made in stores which had no credit sales in 1948.

On the other hand, 30 percent of the sales of "radio stores" were accounted for by "all cash" stores, and another 40 percent were cash sales made in stores which granted credit. Charge account sales and installment sales in radio stores were each 15 percent of the total sales of such stores.

Credit by motor vehicle dealers.—The credit pattern of retail motor vehicle dealers reflects to some extent the practice in these trades of immediately discounting credit paper with finance agencies set up for the purpose. Although dealers were instructed to report as installment sales, any transactions made on an installment basis with the customers, even though the credit paper was immediately discounted by the dealer, review of census reports after completion of the census indicates that this instruction was not followed uniformly. Therefore, the 9 percent of the sales of new car dealers reported as installment is undoubtedly an understatement of the true proportion for this trade.

Credit by lumber yards, building materials dealers.—Nearly three-quarters of the sales of lumber yards, building materials dealers were made on credit, the highest proportion for any kind of business during 1948. Practically all of these credit sales were reported as charge or open account sales, only one percent of the total sales of these dealers being reported as installment sales.

Lumber yards, building materials dealers who made no credit sales accounted for only 5 percent of the total sales. The average sales of these establishments during 1948 was about $78,000, compared with the $217,000 average sales of the dealers who granted credit during 1948.

Credit in other kinds of business.—Other kinds of business in which credit transactions were important were plumbing, paint, electrical stores with nearly one-half of their sales made on charge accounts; fuel, fuel oil, ice dealers whose customers charged about 58 percent of the sales; jewelry stores, where installment sales accounted for 24 percent, and charge account sales another 21 percent; book, stationery stores in which deferred payment sales accounted for 58 percent of the total sales; florists, with 41 percent of their sales charge account sales; and music stores, where installment sales (for such items as pianos and other musical instruments) accounted for 28 percent of the total sales, and charge account sales for 18 percent.

Area Variations

There appears to be considerable variation in the proportion of credit sales to total sales in different parts of the country. For example, credit sales in department stores in the Boston Metropolitan Area accounted for about 42 percent of the total sales of department stores in that area; while in the Chicago Metropolitan Area credit sales in department stores accounted for only 32 percent of the total. There were similar wide ranges in the proportion of credit sales to total sales in other kinds of business.

Merchandise Line Sales

Sales of each kind of business included in the 1948 census, with the exception of a few minor classifications, have been analyzed by merchandise lines and presented for the United States. Statistics for geographic divisions, States, and the 90 largest standard metropolitan areas also are presented.

The merchandise line data are arranged in nine sets of tables corresponding to broad kind-of-business groups used throughout the census. The nine sets are:

Food Group—Tables 16A to 16F.
Eating and Drinking Places—Tables 17A to 17E.
General Merchandise Group, General Stores—Tables 18A to 18E.
Apparel Group—Tables 19A to 19E.
Furniture, Furnishings, Appliance Group—Tables 20A to 20E.
Automotive Group, Gasoline Service Stations—Tables 21A to 21H.
Lumber, Building, Hardware Group—Tables 22A to 22E.
Drug and Proprietary Stores—Tables 23A to 23M.
Miscellaneous Kinds of Business—Tables 24A to 24E.

The kinds of business for which no merchandise line data are presented are "other food stores"; "children's, juveniles' shoe stores"; "other apparel stores"; "other second-hand stores"; and "all other retail stores." The total sales of the stores in these five kinds of business accounted for less than 1 percent of the sales of all retail stores.

The Sample

"Merchandise line sales" was one of the items in the 1948 census for which information was requested from "all large stores and multiunits" and from one in ten of the "small single-unit stores." Estimates for the United States and geographic divisions, based on this sample, are included in the tabulations. Measures of variability due to sampling, between these estimates and figures that could be expected from a complete enumeration, are presented below in "Sampling Reliability of the Estimates."

Merchandise Line Patterns

Merchandise lines are groups of related commodities or commodities grouped on a departmental basis which were established, for census purposes, in consultation with representatives of trade organizations, market research groups, statistical organizations, and others. Twenty-six sets of merchandise lines referred to as "patterns" were developed, one for each group of related kinds of business, to fit the departmental organization and the records of reporting stores. This made it possible for the great majority of stores to report their sales by merchandise line.

In classifying sales by merchandise line, a specified commodity item may be grouped differently in different patterns. For example, the item "canned foods" is part of the merchandise line "canned goods, other groceries" in the pattern used for the kind of business "grocery stores, without fresh meat." However, in the pattern used for "candy, nut, confectionery stores," it is part of the merchandise line "canned foods, beverages, other foods." Similarly, the item "phonograph records" is a separate merchandise line in the pattern used for "radio stores"; whereas in the pattern used for "department stores," it is part of the merchandise line "radios, phonographs, television sets, records, etc."

There may also be individual differences in departmental organization of stores in the same kind of business which could occasionally lead to reporting sales of the same commodity in different merchandise lines. For example, one furniture store may include sales of electric light bulbs in the merchandise line for lamps and shades because they are sold in that department, whereas another furniture store may include the same item under "housewares (including electric)."

The 26 reporting patterns for the kinds of business for which merchandise line sales data are presented are shown in appendix G. Column 2 of the table lists the kinds of business in each chapter for which data for the indicated merchandise lines are published. References should be made to columns 3 and 4 for other chapters and kinds of business in which data for related merchandise lines appear. For merchandise lines shown in column 1 without an asterisk, the column 2 and 4 references cover all kinds of business for which data for the specified line or a related line are published. For merchandise lines shown in column 1 with an asterisk, reference should be made to the chapters listed in column 3 for a complete list of kinds of business for which data for the specified line or a related line are published.

Limitations in Reporting Sales by Merchandise Line

In general, reports on merchandise line sales were based on departmental, "cash register," or other available records maintained by the stores. Stores that maintained only limited records and those whose departmental sales groupings differed from descriptions on the questionnaire were asked to report on the basis of the best possible approximations. A particular item of merchandise may not have been included, in all cases, in the same merchandise line by different stores because of variations in departmental organizations. There probably is a tendency for sales of those merchandise lines which were a predominant part of the sales of a store to include sales of secondary lines, resulting in overstatement of primary lines and understatement of secondary lines.

There were comparatively few stores of those requested to report which failed to provide merchandise line sales analysis. Table BB below, shows the proportion of stores and total sales of each major kind of business group for which estimates of merchandise line sales are presented in the United States tabulations.

Table BB.—Percentage of Stores and Sales in the Merchandise Line Sales Tabulations—United States: 1948

Comparability With 1939

In the 1939 Census of Business, commodity data were requested from all "chain" stores (stores of firms which had 4 or more retail stores) and all other stores with sales over $20,000. In addition, for selected kinds of business, those data were collected from and presented separately for stores with less than $20,000 annual sales.

However, in publishing the merchandise line data, only reports where the information on merchandise line sales was completely reported were used. In the 1939 census, data for only 920,575 stores out of a total of 1,404,747 stores which were requested to report merchandise line information were used in the merchandise line sales tabulations.

The reports used in the 1939 tabulation represented 65 percent of the stores requested to report, and 52 percent of all retail stores. However, because of the way in which the stores requested to report merchandise line data were selected, it is not possible to statistically measure the amount of error involved in estimating merchandise line sales data for all stores.

In 1948, on the other hand, only 529,350 stores were requested to report merchandise line sales data. Nevertheless, because of the introduction of sampling techniques, it was possible to publish with a high and measurable degree of accuracy, merchandise line sales information representing data for 96 percent of all retail stores. Furthermore, because of the smaller number of stores from which merchandise line sales data were requested, it was possible to concentrate enumeration effort on obtaining more complete reporting than was possible in 1939, and thus to keep the amount of non reporting to a minimum.

Department Stores

Of the 2,580 department stores in 1948, 2,560 provided a departmental breakdown of their sales. The 20 which failed to provide such a breakdown were comparatively small stores averaging $780,000 sales per store, their total sales being $15,610,000 out of a total of $10,644,747,000.

An analysis of sales by departments is presented in table CC below:

Table CC.—Percentage of Sales of Department Stores Accounted for by Major Departments: 1948

Merchandise department	Percent of total of stores analyzing merchandise line sales
Stores analyzing merchandise line sales, total	100.0
Main store, total	89.9
Piece goods and household textiles	6.3
Small wares	6.2
Women's and misses' ready-to-wear accessories	16.0
Women's and misses' ready-to-wear apparel	14.2
Men's and boys' wear	11.1
Home furnishings	21.7
Miscellaneous merchandise departments	14.4
Basement store	7.0
Other sales	3.1

The "basement store" of a department store is defined as "lower-price" departments of which there are counterparts at higher prices in the main store. A great many department stores had departments located in the basement of their buildings, but only a part of them could be classified as "basement stores." Basement stores in 1948 accounted for 7 percent of the total sales of all department stores.

Women's ready-to-wear apparel and accessories constituted the principal merchandise group of the sales of department stores. They accounted for 30 percent of the total, whereas men's and boys' wear accounted for only 11 percent. Nearly 22 percent of the sales were made in departments selling home furnishings, while the piece goods and household textile departments and the small wares departments each accounted for 6 percent of the total. Only about one-fifth of the department stores operated a restaurant or a fountain. These eating facilities accounted for 1.5 percent of the total sales.

Dry Goods, General Merchandise Stores

More than half of the sales of "dry goods, general merchandise stores" was in the apparel and accessories field. "Women's, girls', infants' apparel and accessories" accounted for 26 percent of the total; "men's, boys' clothing and furnishings" for 20 percent; and "shoe and rubber footwear" for another 8 percent. The only other important merchandise line was "dry goods, bedding, needlework, notions, etc.," accounting for 25 percent of the total sales.

Many of the "dry goods, general merchandise stores" sold lines of merchandise similar to "department stores," but did not meet the requirement of normally employing 25 or more persons, and therefore could not be classified as department stores.

Variety Stores

As the name implies, these stores sell a great variety of lines, with no line dominating. Clothing and accessories of all kinds accounted for 22 percent of the total sales; the notions and small wares line for 10 percent; and the dry goods and domestics line and toys, games, books each accounted for 9 percent.

The demarkation line between the small "dry goods, general merchandise stores" and the independent "variety stores" is not well defined. The lines of merchandise sold by many of the stores which call themselves "variety stores" or "5 and 10 cent stores" etc., are very similar to the lines sold by many stores, particularly in rural areas, which call themselves "general merchandise stores," or "dry goods stores," etc.

Drug Stores

Drug store prescription sales amounted to 13 percent of all sales for drug stores with fountains and 23 percent for those not operating fountains.

For the first time in a Census of Business, these stores were requested to report data on the number of prescriptions sold and refilled, the dollar sales of such prescriptions, and the number of registered pharmacists working in the stores. An estimate of the number of prescriptions sold is presented for stores representing about 88 percent of all drug stores. It is estimated that this 88 percent sold 306,736,000 prescriptions, valued at $549,038,000, an average of approximately $1.79 per prescription.

The information on registered pharmacists presented represents data from about 95 percent of all drug stores. An estimated total of 77,496 registered pharmacists were active in these stores on or about December 15. This count includes proprietors who were registered pharmacists as well as registered pharmacists who were paid employees. Only 9 percent of all drug stores had 3 or more full-time pharmacists.

Motor Vehicle Dealers

The 43,642 new car dealers who provided a merchandise line sales analysis stated that they sold 3,600,000 new cars during 1948. In addition, an appreciable number of new passenger cars, over 20,000, was sold by farm equipment dealers. New car dealers also sold 2,916,000 used cars, more than 802,000 new trucks, and nearly 282,000 used trucks. However, the number of trucks sold by retailers does not represent the major part of truck sales in 1948, since dealers whose primary source of receipts was from the sale of trucks were classified in Wholesale Trade rather than in Retail Trade.

Table DD, below, presents sales of new and used cars and new and used trucks by motor vehicle dealers and by farm equipment dealers. The average price paid for a new passenger car in 1948 was $2,001, while the average price of a used passenger car was $936.

GASOLINE SERVICE STATIONS

Gasoline accounted for more than 70 percent of the sales of establishments classified as gasoline service stations in 1948. This was a reduction from the proportion of such sales in 1939, when gasoline accounted for 75 percent of the sales of gasoline service stations with sales of $20,000 or more each, and 77 percent of the sales of smaller stations.

Sales of gasoline were reported by many retailers classified in business other than gasoline service stations. For example, 27,788 new car dealers and 1,188 used car dealers reported sales of gasoline and lubricants, while 4,332 tire, battery, and accessory dealers reported gasoline sales. "General stores" also reported 12,052 stores selling gasoline, lubricants, and fuel oil, while considerable quantities were sold by establishments, such as "service garages," "tourist courts," etc., classified in Service Trade.

SERVICE RECEIPTS OF RETAIL STORES

Only 14 percent of retail stores stated that part of their receipts resulted from services rendered to customers. Of the total sales and receipts of $38,616,813,000 by these stores, $2,911,514,000, or 8 percent, was for services and the remainder from the sale of merchandise.

981778—52——4

Nearly one-half of the total of all service receipts of retail stores was accounted for by new car dealers. These dealers reported service receipts of $1,365,717,000, practically all for shop or service labor sales. Other kinds of business which reported sizable receipts for services were gasoline service stations, with $302,702,000; farm equipment dealers, with $140,595,000; household appliance stores, $123,047,000; jewelry stores, $119,487,000; and department stores, $112,029,000.

It should be observed that the receipts of service leased departments located in retail stores are not included in the Retail Trade tabulations but have been included with Service Trade.

SALES FOR RESALE

All large stores and multiunits and stores in the sample of small single-unit stores were asked to report the amount of their total sales which were sold to other retailers for resale.

Of all retail stores, only 9 percent reported any sales for resale; 86 percent reported no such sales; while 5 percent failed to answer the inquiry. The stores which said that they made some sales for resale had total sales of $31,359,909,000, of which $3,260,923,000, or 10 percent, were "wholesale" sales.

About one-third of all wholesale sales by retailers were made by new car dealers. It is probable that a considerable proportion of these wholesale sales were of used cars which were acquired by the dealers as "trade-ins." Other kinds of business with a comparatively high proportion of sales for resale were "milk dealers"; "grocery stores, with fresh meat"; "lumber yards"; "used car dealers"; "tire, battery, and accessory dealers"; and "hay, grain, and feed stores."

RETAIL SALES BY SERVICE TRADE AND WHOLESALE TRADE ESTABLISHMENTS

Establishments classified in Service Trade reported a total of $1,457,874,000 of sales of merchandise during 1948. Hotels accounted for $817,593,000 of this total, mainly for meals; while automobile repair shops accounted for $175,242,000.

Wholesale Trade establishments reported sales to household consumers, farmers, and other individual users amounting to $2,093,271,000. Retail sales of farm products (raw materials) accounted for $557,955,000 of the total, while dairy, poultry products accounted for another $422,908,000.

THE USE OF SAMPLING IN THE ENUMERATION OF RETAIL STORES

Sample Design

The need for sampling.—Selected items of information were obtained only from a sample of retail stores. The method of sampling used made it possible to prepare estimated totals which have a known sampling variability for these items for all retail stores. Such estimates in kind-of-business detail have been prepared for the United States and for the nine geographic divisions.

The sampling procedure made possible large economies in the cost and time of conducting and tabulating the census and in general concentrated reporting among stores with records best adapted for deriving the required information. It relieved a large proportion of all retail stores from reporting all but the basic census information on annual sales, pay roll and employment, and kind of business.

All "large" stores (see Description of the sample, below) were required to report the items obtained on a sample basis (e. g., sales by merchandise lines, credit sales and accounts receivable, inventories, etc.); only one in ten of the "small" stores was required to report these items, while the remainder reported only basic information. As there were almost 1,400,000 "small" stores, the use of the 1-in-10 sample made it possible to concentrate enumeration effort on the sample stores and thereby to improve quality and completeness of reporting as well as greatly reduce the cost and time of the census.

The statistics contained in volume II present data, derived from the sample, by kinds of business for totals of basic census items and sampled items. These total figures based on the sample will not agree necessarily with totals in other volumes. The reasons for such differences are discussed more fully in "Method of estimation," below. As an example, the differences which occur between total sales for the universe of retail establishments and as estimated from the sample are given in table I, below, for United States totals.

Description of the sample.—As indicated above, the sample used to collect selected items of information from retail stores permitted the preparation of estimated figures with a known and sufficiently small sampling variability for the United States and, in most cases, also for the geographic divisions. To have obtained results with the desired degree of reliability for smaller areas would have required a sample considerably larger than that which was used and would have added considerably to the cost of the census. As the sampled information for the United States and geographic divisions satisfied many important data needs, the justification for a larger sample was limited. Moreover, the extension of the sample would not have been possible within the census budget without sacrificing other major elements of the census.

In the census all retail stores were enumerated, without regard to kind-of-business classification, as members of one of two groups. In general, the first group consisted of those stores which had $100,000 or more as their total sales and receipts in 1948, or were members of a multiunit organization, or contained a leased department. Members of this group were requested to report merchandise line sales information, credit information, etc., in addition to those basic data such as total sales, pay roll, and number of employees which were included on the short form schedule and were reported by all stores.

The second group consisted of all other retail stores, namely, small single-unit stores. A random sample was selected systematically by each field enumerator in the course of the first phase of enumeration for the purpose of including one in ten of this group. Those in the sample were requested to report the same information as the members of the first group, while the remainder reported basic data only.

The first group, consisting in general of large stores, multiunits, and stores having leased departments included 391,494 stores with sales of $92,268,922,000, accounting for 22 percent of total retail stores and 70 percent of total retail sales. The second group, in general smaller single-unit retailers, included 1,378,500 stores with sales of $39,950,670,000, accounting for 78 percent of the total number of stores and 30 percent of total sales.

Method of estimation.—The data presented in United States and geographic division tables represent information as reported by large stores, multiunits, and leased departments plus small-store information estimated on the basis of the figures submitted by the sample of one in ten of these stores.

The estimates for small single-unit stores in a geographic division were prepared by multiplying by ten the data submitted in the sample reports after an adjustment had been made at the geographic division level so that the number of sample reports for each of the 58 kind-of-business classes equaled one-tenth of the total number of the stores enumerated in the kind of business. This adjustment was made by randomly eliminating or duplicating the required number of sample reports. The figures in geographic division tables, arrived at by the above method, were totaled to derive the figures presented in United States tables.

Total sales for any of the 58 primary kinds of business, as shown in tables involving the 10 percent sample of small stores, may differ from those shown in tables where the figures are for all establishments reporting, whether or not in the sample. However, because of the adjustment procedure, the total number of stores shown for a kind-of-business class which is one of the 58 will agree (except for differences caused by rounding) with the number of stores actually enumerated in that class. The total number of stores shown for a subdivision of any of the 58 kind of-business classes will not necessarily agree with the known number because of sampling variability.

Use of State and metropolitan area tables.—Figures in State and metropolitan area tables, for example, inventories, State table 10F, are presented only for large stores and multiunits. Because sampling variability in many cases was large, small-store data, either in the form of actual figures reported by the sample of small stores or estimated for all small stores, have not been included. Two methods for approximating small-store data are indicated below. However, because in either case the method of obtaining the results does not permit a measurement of their reliability, the publication of such figures is not regarded as appropriate for the Census Bureau. The use of the results obtained by these or similar methods must be the responsibility of the user.

Users of these tables who wish to determine figures at this level for small as well as large stores may choose to make estimates on the basis of their own assumptions regarding the characteristics of the small stores. One method consists of applying the experience of the sample of small single-unit stores shown in tables for the geographic division which includes the State or metropolitan area. A second method consists of applying the large and multiunit experience in the pertinent State or metropolitan area table to the small single-unit stores in the same State. In both cases, the resulting figures could then be added to the known totals for large stores and multiunits to obtain estimated totals for the required area.

The above pertains specifically to the following tables: Inventories, table 10F; Employment, table 13D; Credit, tables 11G and 11H; and Merchandise line sales, tables D and E in chapters 16 through 24.

Sampling Reliability of the Estimates

When the data are estimated from a sample, exact agreement with the results that would have been obtained from a complete enumeration is not expected. Approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the national estimates of items included in the tables in volume II are given below. These measures of variability are given separately for each chapter and cover the tables included therein. In those instances where detailed measures of variability are not given, their general relations to other measures of sampling variability are stated. Estimates for items in geographic division tables are based upon a smaller sample than are the national estimates. Consequently, they have a greater degree of variability. Multiplication factors for the sampling variability of these geographic division estimates are given in the section "Geographic division multiplication factors," below. The measures of variability do not include biases arising from the use of different questionnaires, different processing of sample and nonsample reports, differences of response, and in nonreporting biases.

It should be observed, however, that some of these biases can arise in complete enumerations when sampling procedures are not used.

Merchandise inventories.—Approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the estimates of the merchandise inventories at the end of 1948, presented in tables 10A through 10D, are given below. The chances are about two out of three that estimated inventories would differ from the results of a complete enumeration by less than the percentages shown in the table.

[1] Data for stores with sales of $100,000 or more and stores of firms having more than one store have no sampling variability.
[2] Sampling variability is less than ½ of 1 percent.

Estimates for merchandise inventories at the beginning of the year are slightly less reliable, in general, than those for end-of-year inventories, except for those estimates (e. g., for stores over $100,000 in sales) which have no sampling variability.

Credit.—Approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the United States estimates of the cash and credit sales, of balances due, and of the number of credit stores are given below. The chances are about two out of three that these estimates would differ from the results of a complete enumeration by less than the percentages shown.

Sampling variability less than ½ of 1 percent
No sampling variability.
[2] Not shown in table 11A.

The table above shows the sampling variability of selected columns of table 11A. The variability of the other columns can be judged by remembering that, in general, the variability of a sales estimate is smaller than the comparable estimate for number of stores. For example, the variability of the estimate of charge account sales by stores, all of whose credit is charge account credit, is smaller than the variability of the estimate of the number of those stores.

The above pertains only to tables 11A and 11E. The following is pertinent, in general, to the other tables in chapter 11. In table 11B estimates for corporations have smaller variability than the comparable estimates in table 11A, while the estimates for noncorporations are slightly higher. In table 11C, estimates for single-unit stores have more variability than the comparable estimates in table 11A; while estimates for multiunit stores have no variability. In table 11D, estimates for stores with sales of less than $100,000 have more variability than the comparable estimate in table 11A, while estimates for stores over that size have no sampling variability.

Selected types of operation (cooperatives).—Approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the estimates for cooperatives of merchandise line sales, merchandise inventories, and credit sales presented in this volume are given in tables IV and V below.

The above table shows the sampling variability of column 1 of table 12E. Estimates given in columns 2, 4, and 5 are generally more reliable than those for the sales of the merchandise line, column 1. Estimated total sales of those handling the merchandise line, column 4, are only slightly more reliable; but the percent of total sales of the merchandise line, column 2, and the ratio of merchandise line sales to the total sales of those handling the line, column 5, both have far less sampling variability in general than does column 2.

Table V shows the sampling variability of data in selected columns of tables 12F and 12G. The chances are about two out of three that these estimates would differ from the results of a complete enumeration by less than the percentages shown in the table. The variability of other columns can be judged by remembering that, in general, estimates for merchandise inventories at the beginning of the year are slightly less reliable than those for end-of-year inventories; that the variability of installment sales and of balances due is much greater than for charge account sales; and that the variability of number and sales for those establishments not analyzing sales approximates closely those for stores with cash sales only.

Employment and pay roll.—Approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the estimates of the weekly pay roll for full workweek employees presented in tables 13A and 13B are given below. The chances are about two out of three that these estimates would differ from the results of a complete enumeration by less than the percentages shown in the table.

The table above shows sampling variability of selected columns of table 14A. The following is pertinent, in general, to the other columns in the table. Estimates for trucks with manufacturers' rated capacity "Less than 1½ tons" have slightly larger variability than comparable estimates for all trucks. Estimates for larger rated capacities have variability much greater than estimates for total trucks. The variability of estimates for total sales of stores not operating trucks is of the same general magnitude as the variability of comparable estimates for total sales of stores operating trucks. Estimates for number and total sales of stores not reporting data on trucks have somewhat greater variability than comparable estimates for stores reporting and analyzing such data.

for these items would differ from the results of a complete enumeration by less than the percentages shown in the table.

Approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the estimates of merchandise line sales of self-service retail grocery stores presented in column 1 in the "United States" portion of table 15E are given in table IX, below. The estimates of merchandise line sales for such stores by geographic division presented in the same table are subject to larger sampling variability because the sample for each is smaller than the national sample. Multiplication factors for geographic divisions are given in the section "Geographic division multiplication factors," below.

Merchandise line sales.—The series of tables which follow give approximate measures of the differences which arise from sampling in the estimates of the merchandise line sales presented in columns 1 of tables titled "Merchandise Line Sales . . . United States, by Kind of Business: 1948," e. g., tables 16A, 17A, through 24A. Tables 16B, 17B, through 24B are geographic division tables, which have smaller samples and are therefore subject to greater variability. Multiplication factors for geographic divisions are given in the section "Geographic division multiplication factors," below.

Estimates given in columns 2, 4, or 5 of the merchandise line A-tables and B-tables are generally more reliable than those for the sales of the merchandise line. Estimated total sales of those handling the merchandise line, column 4, are slightly more reliable; but the percent of total sales accounted for by the sales of the merchandise line, column 2, and the ratio of merchandise line sales to the total sales of those handling the line, column 5, both have far less sampling variability in general.

Geographic division multiplication factors.—The estimates presented in the tables in volume II on a sample basis for geographic divisions are subject to larger sampling variability than the United States estimates because the sample for each is smaller than the national sample. Table XX, below, shows how many times larger is the sampling variability for each division as compared with that of the Nation.

TABLE XX. MULTIPLICATION FACTORS FOR SAMPLING VARIABILITY—GEOGRAPHIC DIVISIONS

Geographic division	Refer to the sampling variability for the United States and multiply by
New England	4.0
Middle Atlantic	2.1
East North Central	2.3
West North Central	3.2
South Atlantic	2.8
East South Central	3.8
West South Central	3.2
Mountain	5.7
Pacific	3.4

Thus, to obtain the approximate sampling variability of an estimate for a particular geographic division, reference is first made to the table showing the sampling variability at the national level for the item estimated. The variability at the regional level is obtained by multiplying this national level figure by the appropriate factor from the table above. This procedure is illustrated in the section immediately following.

Example of how to use the tables.—The use of sampling variability tables given above is illustrated below in two examples:

1. Merchandise line tables.—Data in tables 16A and 16B of volume II indicate that estimated sales of fresh fruits and vegetables by "Grocery stores, without fresh meat" amounted to $315,640,000 for the United States and $102,735,000 for the Middle Atlantic Division. To obtain the sampling variability of these figures, reference is first made to column 3 of table 16A. This shows that this merchandise line is handled by 59,185 of the 152,185 stores or by 39 percent of the stores analyzing sales. Turning to table X1, above, and referring to the line for "Grocery stores, without fresh meat" and the column headed 40 percent, a sampling variability of approximately 1 percent is found. This is the guide to the sampling variability for the national figure. Since, as indicated above, the multiplication factor for the Middle Atlantic Division is 2.1, the sampling variability is slightly more than twice as large. Thus, in this illustration, the chances are two out of three that the estimates of sales of fresh fruits and vegetables by "Grocery stores, without fresh meat" would be different because of sampling from the results of a complete enumeration by about 1 percent at the national level and 2 percent for the Middle Atlantic Division.

2. Other tables.—Data in tables 10A and 10B indicate that estimated merchandise inventories at the end of 1948 held by "Women's ready-to-wear stores" amounted to $113,787,000 for the United States and $103,705,000 for the Middle Atlantic Division. To obtain the approximate sampling variability of these two figures one turns to table 11, above, and refers to the line for "Women's ready-to-wear." In column 1 a sampling variability of 1 percent is found. This is the guide to the sampling variability for the national figure. Since the multiplication factor for the Middle Atlantic Division is 2.1, the sampling variability for that division is more than twice as large. Thus, in this illustration, the chances are two out of three that the estimates of merchandise inventories held by "Women's ready-to-wear stores" at the year end would be different because of sampling from the results of a complete enumeration, by about 1 percent at the national level and 2 percent for the Middle Atlantic Division.

LIST OF CORRECTIONS

This volume has been prepared primarily by assembling and binding the statistical portions of previously issued Subject Bulletins together with additional chapters covering other phases of Retail Trade which were not issued in bulletin form. This publication plan was adopted to conserve public funds and expedite the issuance of the volume. It was found desirable to reprint completely or partially, the following Subject Bulletins for volume publication: Credit; Employment and Pay Roll; Merchandise Line Sales—Food Group; Merchandise Line Sales—General Merchandise Group, General Stores; Merchandise Line Sales—Automotive Group and Gasoline Service Stations; Merchandise Line Sales—Lumber, Building, Hardware Group; and Merchandise Line Sales—Drug and Proprietary Stores. In some instances, therefore, data will differ from that shown in the bulletins as originally issued. The corrections appearing below represent revisions made after volume copy was returned from the printer.

["Line" and "Column" indicate the position of the item on a page. Thus "line 10" means the tenth line from the top of the table stub, counting every line on which printing appears regardless of presence or entries in field. "Column 5" means fifth column from the left, not counting the stub column.]
